LLOYD GEORGE HAS BALANCE OF POWER

Today

British Elections
A Vicious Circle
Big Business

—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1929)

A FEATURE of the British election is Lady Astor of whom George Bernard Shaw truly says "her defeat would be a national calamity".

At one meeting a woman of the Labor party shouted at Lady Astor, "my children are as good as yours". Lady Astor's instant reply contained sound philosophy she said: "As good as which one of mine, one of m sons is a star gazer who dreams too much to make money, the other would make a fortune if you banished him to Timbuctu. If fathers and mothers can't make their children equal what makes you think the Labor Government can do it".

Many mothers would ask Lady Astor, "which do you consider the best of your children, the star gazer or the one that could make money in Timbuctu".

The star gazer is probably the bet-

Many Houses Burned and Bridge Destroyed During Severe Tremors

Associated Press Cable

BUENOS AIRES, May 31—Thirty persons were reported killed and half of the village of Villa Real destroyed by an earthquake Thursday.

Many houses were burned and a bridge in the city collapsed. The number of injured could not be estimated. Schools have been closed owing to danger of collapse.

Texas Floods Gain, Causing Huge Loss

Associated Press

DALLAS, Texas, May 31—Floods that for three days have held sections of south, north and east Texas waterbound, taking at least seven lives, causing several million dollars damage to crops, halting highway traffic and crippling train and telegraph service, Thursday, were making their greatest inroads upon regions of southeast Texas. Several towns near Beaumont were surrounded by flood waters.

THINKS LABOR NOW CERTAIN TO TRIUMPH

Knowles Says Baldwin Already Sees Writing on Wall

By R. E. KNOWLES
Special Cable to Edmonton Bulletin

LIVERPOOL, May 31—Never were returns so eagerly desired or so slowly received as those of yesterday's general election in Britain.

This nation yesterday, terminated the most perplexing political race that has been run within the memory of man. For the first time in the most sophisticated political country in the world, a complete and unhampered democracy was entrusted with a decision, whose significance will have its influence upon every nation in the world. Not Europe alone, but also India, Egypt, China, East Africa, and Bolshevist Russia, all struggling to be politically born again, are this morning turning their eyes toward this ancient mother of parliaments and trustee of liberty for the world.

Great Hour

The hour is one of immeasurable moment for the whole family of man. Far from complete as the returns are at the moment of cabling, they yet clearly provide the handwriting on the wall. The Baldwin government is decisively defeated. It looks too as if Lloyd George's failure will furnish the biggest surprise of the contest. He is swimming far astern although he set the copybook for both the other parties. Although he thrust upon both Laborites and Conservatives their policies borrowed from his own, he himself seems to be far outrun by those who kindled their own torches at his magic flame.

The latest returns approximately give Labor 118 seats, Conservatives 78 and Liberals 13. It must be remembered that there are about 600 constituencies in all, yet it cannot be denied that the above startling figures are revealing things and indicate the pulse of the nation. The most ominous fact of all is that four of Mr. Baldwin's cabinet ministers have lost their seats to the socialists, they are Sir A. Steel Maitland, Sir T. Inskip, Sir Vivian Henderson and Mr. H. G. Williams. Also Mr. J. Fitzalan Hope, chairman of committees of the commons, fell at Sheffield. The like of this has not happened before in the last twenty years.

Pathetic Win

One almost pathetically interesting incident is the victory of Oliver Bald-

The Day In Parliament

OTTAWA, May 31.

Today

The senate will sit.

The house of commons will consider government bills, and the estimates of the departments of railways, national defence and public works.

Yesterday

Second reading given to the measure amending the Dominion Elections act and the bill was considered in committee. The bill authorizing the construction of the Montreal terminals of the Canadian National Railways at a cost of $50,000,000 was considered in committee and stands for third reading.

The house in committee of the whole considered estimates of the departments of public works and railways, but little progress was made.

The senate passed the act amending the Special War Revenue act and also the amendment to the Returned Soldiers' Insurance act. Third reading was given to the act compensating civilians for losses incurred during the war.

Payment War Claims To Be Made June 15

Canadian Press

OTTAWA, May 31.—Those persons who suffered losses during the war and whose claims were approved by Commissioner Friel, will be sent cheques for the full amount on or about June 15. This was stated at the department of the secretary of state today. Cheques mailed at that time will number about 1,000.

A number of others will be held up owing to the fact that the department is not in possession of information as to where they should be mailed.

QUARREL GIVES CONSERVATIVES OPENING GAIN

Head of Austen Motor Works Threatened to Close Out Hundreds

Canadian Press Cable

LONDON, May 31—The Conservatives made their first gain of a seat last night in the King's Norton division of Birmingham, the division in which are situated the Austin Motor works. Major L. B. Thomas, Conservative, carried the seat by polling 14,464 votes to 13,963 for R. Dennison, former Labor member.

The result was notable in the light of the recent controversy between Mr. Dennison and Sir Herbert Austin, head of the Austin Motor works, who was attacked by the Labor party for his alleged slam that if Labor won the election and repealed the McKenna safeguarding duties, his works might have to close down. Sir Herbert denied this statement but drew fire from Mr. Dennison, who declared that if any manufacturer closed his works because of a Labor victory, the Labor government would take over the factory.

Would Make Used Car Dealers Take Out City License

Used car dealers, whether or not the business of selling or dealing in second-hand automobiles is the sole one engaged in, will be subjected to a license fee under the second hand dealers by-law, if a recommendation of Thomas M. McCallum, city license inspector, is approved by the city council.

Mr. McCallum also recommends that the second-hand dealers by-law be amended to include dealers in second-hand or used motorcycles and bicycles. If the amendment is approved it will affect new car dealers in the city who operate used car lots in conjunction with their regular business.

The proposed amendment specifies that no automobile, motorcycle or bicycle purchased by these dealers shall be removed from the premises until after 48 hours from the time the report of the sale is made to the chief of police, unless special permission is given by the chief in writing.

Ontario Swelters In Extreme Heat

Canadian Press

TORONTO, May 31—Practically all parts of Ontario sweltered Thursday beneath the rays of a scorching summer sun to which the loss of four lives are attributed.

Numerous prostrations were reported throughout the province, but relief is in sight, according to the weather man, who predicts cool, westerly winds for late Friday with probable thunderstorms.

TAKE-OFF IMPROBABLE

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, May 31—A take-off of the "Green Flash" for Rome or the "Yellow Bird" for Paris earlier than Sunday seemed improbable today in the face of weather reports from Dr. James H. Kimball, of the New York weather bureau.

HOUSE PASSES $75,000 FOR PEACE RIVER

Will be Used to Build Telegraph Line to Fort Vermilion

Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31.—Slow progress on estimates was made in the House of Commons Thursday. Votes under consideration included the appropriations for the telephones and telegraph lines which are operated by the department of public works.

An appropriation for roads and bridges totalling $1,890,000 carried.

General J. A. Clark, Conservative, Vancouver-Burrard, urged Hon. J. C. Elliott, minister of public works, to give consideration to Vancouver's request for a subsidy for what is known as the Second Narrows bridge.

Other items passed were: Alberta and Saskatchewan telegraph and telephone lines, general repairs, $21,000; clearing right-of-way, Island Hill, Ile a La Crosse telegraph lines, $11,500; building for telegraph service, Peace River, $5,000; reconstruction of Grouard-Peace River telegraph lines, $3,800; telegraph line from Peace River to Fort Vermilion, $75,000.

Supports Proposal

General A. D. McRae, Conservative, North Vancouver, said he strongly supported the item of $75,000 for telegraph line from Peace River to Fort Vermilion. The telegraph line proposed was badly needed and would bring into touch with the world several communities 100 miles from transportation facilities. He urged consideration of government telegraph employes in a readjustment of salaries.

An item of $258,945 for telegraph and telephone lines in British Columbia was passed with little discussion and the committee turned to miscellaneous expenditures totalling $1,[illegible],355. An amount of $30,000 for the National Art Gallery was passed.

FIVE MILLION AND SUBSIDY FOR MANITOBA

Plus All Unalienated Resources, is Basis of Settlement

By Staff Correspondent
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, May 31—Manitoba is to get all her unalienated natural resources, her subsidy in perpetuity with statutory increases and about five million dollars in cash the Bulletin learned today.

The royal commission appointed by the federal government is said to have made its report to the government this morning and the terms of the report are believed to have been asquiesced in by the Manitoba government as well as the federal authorities. The unalienated resources were not very large, Manitoba being the first of the western provinces to be developed and most of the resources have long gone into private hands. There are about 25,000,000 acres of land still but much of this is wild land in the north around Fort Churchill and unfit for cultivation. There are some pulp wood areas around the Nelson River still public property but large areas of pulp wood have been leased in recent years.

Under these leases however the proceeds will go to the Manitoba government when the resources are turned over. It is considered highly improbable that any legislation will be brought down this session but the necessary bills will be introduced into the Dominion parliament in the Manitoba legislature next year.

The report was made to the prime minister. The commission included, Mr. Justice Turgeon of Saskatchewan, Hon. T. A. Crerar of Manitoba and C. M. Bowman of Ontario.

HEADS CORPORATION

MONTREAL, May 31.—Frank B Common, K.C., was elected president of the Lake Superior Corporation at a special meeting held here today. The following were also elected to the board of directors: Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, Sir William T. Stavert and F. E. Meredith, K.C.

4,000 File On Homesteads In Peace District

Associated Press

OTTAWA, May 31.—Eighty per cent. of 2,750,000 acres taken up by settlers in Canada last year was filed in such northerly districts as Prince Albert, Sask.; Peace River district, and Grande Prairie, Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, declared in his address here Thursday, which was broadcast over a Dominion-wide Canadian National radio hook-up. The migration northward had been most pronounced in the Peace River region, where 4,000 homesteads were taken up last year, Mr. Stewart said. In this district, he added, there were still available 40,000,000 acres of fertile land, capable of adding millions of dollars to the annual value of the Dominion's crops.

136 IN FIELD IN ELECTIONS SASKATCHEWAN

Conservatives Name 43 Candidates, Progressives 19, Liberals 61

Canadian Press

REGINA, Sask. May 31—Saskatchewan's election campaign seventh in the 24 year history of the province—entered its final week today with nomination lists completed. A total of 136 candidates officially entered the ballot fight for 61 legislature seats when names were definitely listed yesterday.

In every constituency where balloting will take place on June 6, a supporter of the Liberal government of Premier James G. Gardiner has been entered. Sixty of the 61 Liberal supporters are listed under the banner of the party which has ruled Saskatchewan since 1905, when the province was born, and the other Gardiner-approved candidate is W. Baker, Labor entry in Moose Jaw.

Arrayed against government candidates in 43 constituencies are Conservative contestants, marshalled by Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, again a candidate for the seat he hlods in Saskatoon city. Nineteen Progressives, under the guidance of Charles Little, who seeks to dislodge the Liberal tenant in Bengough constituency, have been nominated. Other entries are eleven independents and two economic groups.

MANITOBA FIRE LOSS $200,000

Two Industrial Plants Levelled by Flames at St. Boniface

Canadian Press

ST. BONIFACE, Man., May 31.—Industrial plants of the Berkdale Dairy company and the Golden Standard Paint and Lead Works were levelled to the ground today in a blaze occasioning loss estimated at close to $300,000. The buildings are located on the main street of this city, across the river from Winnipeg.

By far the greater loss was occasioned by the paint firm, while the dairy company suffered damage estimated at slightly over $20,000, in dairy products and meats, in addition to the value of the building, probably an equal amount. Only the building of the paint company was covered by insurance, it is said, stock being unprotected.

Canada Elected To Postal Conference

By Staff Correspondent
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin.

OTTAWA, May 31.—Canada has been elected to the executive of the World's Postal Conference, the postmaster general was notified by cable today.

This will give the Dominion a direct voice in the postal regulations of the world and increases her prestige among the nations. The Bulletin understands that there is a possibility that the next world's conference will take place in the Dominion.

Competitors Speed Up; Zero Hour Approaches

Last 300,000 Extra Vote Period Ends on Saturday at Midnight

It's getting close to the zero hour for candidates in the Edmonton Bulletin's Big Automobile Contest, insofar as the 300,000 extra votes offer is concerned. An unusual demand for more receipt books indicates increased activity among those entered.

• • • • • •

The last 300,000 extra vote offer closes at midnight, Saturday. However, anything mailed or brought into the Contest Office by Monday noon, June 3rd, will be accepted. This gives contestants a chance to work up until the last minute on Saturday night, and then make up their lists and send them in. If you run out of receipt blanks, list the names and addresses on a slip of paper and send them in. Remember that with each $18.00 in cash you get 300,000 extra votes, and you also put yourself in line as one of the winners for the two $100.00 cash prizes for the two contestants, one in the city and one outside, sending in the greatest number of subscriptions between now and June 8th.

• • • • • •

Taking advantage of the $18.00 club offer will also enable candidates to build up a big reserve for the final count. Candidates who were late starts are among the leaders now, and there is still time for live-wire candidates in the different districts to get out and win some of the big prizes offered. This is a "can't lose" contest. You get something for everything you do, and you stand an equal chance with any other contestant to win one of the big $2,000 automobiles.

• • • • • •

Candidates and their friends should also bear in mind that the regular vote schedule declines almost twenty per cent after midnight Saturday, June 1st.

• • • • • •

Remember, you can enter now and still be a winner, but if you want to take advantage of the high votes and the $18.00 club offer, you must act quickly.

DO IT NOW. Write or call at the Contest Dept., Suite 1, Credit Foncier Building, or Phone 6567.

Labor Returned With Largest Single Party; May Yet Win Majority

Thirteen Women Will Grace Seats of Next Parliament—Baldwin Suffers Crushing Loss of Seats in Commons

LONDON, May 31.—At 7:15 tonight the Labor party was only eight seats behind the total amassed by all other parties, having climbed up four seats in the past hour.

The standing:

Labor	285
Conservatives	238
Liberals	48
Nationalists	3
Prohibition	1
Independent	3
Total	578

By GEORGE HAMBLETON,
Canadian Press Correspondent.

LONDON, May 31.—With 22 more results to trickle in, the position this evening was unchanged and unchangeable. Neither of the major groups can secure a majority, and the Liberals hold the balance of power. With 285 members, Labor has the biggest group, but is quite out of reach of the necessary 308 for a clear majority. The Conservatives number 238 and Liberals 48, with three Nationalist, one Prohibition and three Independents.

The remaining 15 out of the 615 seats will not be decided for some days. Among these is the postponed Rugby division of Warwickshire, due to the death of the Labor candidate, which went Conservative in 1924 by 4,000. Then there are 11 university members the English university members declaring their results June 3 and 4, and the Scottish, June 10. In 1924 these did not elect a single Labor candidate.

Majority Impossible

Oxford and Cambridge returning four Conservatives, London one independent, the smaller English combined universities one Conservative and one Liberal, the Scottish university two Conservatives and one Liberal, and the University of Wales one Liberal. Putting these deferred elections out of the picture, and granting Ramsay MacDonald every one of the 22 still in doubt today—which is manifestly absurd—he would still be short one of a clear majority.

The situation is almost an exact parallel with the dominion general elections of 1925 when the Conservatives, under the leadership of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, secured 116 seats out of 246, thus failing of a majority as against 101 Liberals, 25 Progressives, two Labor and two Independents, the resulting deadlock being resolved by a working agreement between the Liberals and a group of Progressives. This rather precarious combination broke down next session, Mr. Meighen taking office followed by the election of 1926 and a realignment of the Progressives which secured the government of Hon. Mackenzie King.

KING GEORGE AGAIN KEPT IN SICK BED

Abscess Forms Under Old Scar—People Are Alarmed

Canadian Press Cable

WINDSOR, England, May 31.—King George was stated, in an official bulletin issued at Windsor Castle this evening, to have had a quiet day with some sleep. His Majesty's condition remains satisfactory.

LONDON, May 31.—It was authoritatively stated today at Windsor Castle that there was no change in the king's condition. He passed a fair night.

A bulletin issued at Windsor Castle said:

"King George had a fair night.

"An abscess had formed under the site of an old scar on the right side of his chest and is now draining. His general condition remains good.

"Though the king will need to remain in bed, His Majesty will be able to transact public business."

(Signed):
"HENRY L. MARTIN,
"SIR STANLEY HEWETT,
"DAWSON, OF PENN."

Lord Dawson of Penn, King George's physician, who stayed in Windsor overnight, visited the palace this morning and saw the king. He was accompanied by Sir Stanley Hewett, also one of His Majesty's physicians during his long illness last winter.

The Prince of Wales was at Southampton today attending a royal counties agricultural show. He has a number of engagements for next week. Apparently there have been no alterations in his plans.

The three physicians had a lengthy consultation today.

It was then authoritatively indicated that although great care would have to be taken to maintain His Majesty's health, no anxiety was felt at present for the royal patient.

The plans for keeping the king constantly informed of the progress of the general elections was abandoned last night. His Majesty discussed the political situation today and was told from time to time of the trend of results.

At Windsor Castle the extent of the nation's solicitude over the king's renewed illness could be measured by the bombardment of telephonic enquiries from all over the country.

The people of this historic town who follow with an affectionate personal interest the daily comings and goings of the king in his Windsor home, stood about the streets and gathered near the castle gates to discuss the latest phases of His Majesty's illness.

SAVOY THEATRE BEING REBUILT

Famous House Again Will House Gilbert-Sullivan Operas

The Savoy Theatre, London, is to be closed to the public after the evening performance on Saturday, June 1 and will be in the hands of builders and decorators until the end of September. The house will be reconstructed, considerably enlarged and re-decorated.

The re-opening of the famous playhouse promises to be a truly notable event. The present lessees of the theatre and the proprietors of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas are now agreed that they shall be revived in the autumn. It was at the Savoy that the operas first attracted world-wide attention.

Today the Savoy holds only about 900 people and at a squeeze, $1,500 might be taken at one performance—when the box office is busiest. It is expected that in its reconstructed state the seating capacity will be between 1,200 and 1,300 people and its money capacity between $2,250 and $2,375 a performance.

MORE ABOUT

win, son of the Prime Minister, as a socialist member. The premier's foes are thus indeed they of his own household.

Perhaps the most reassuring symptom of all is the apparently utter rout of the communists.

It is priceless tidings that Mr. Saklatvala, Oriental firebrand and apostle of anarchy, has lost, to a Socialist. This will doubtless temper the newborn joy of Russia, but it brings gladness and the throb of confidence to British hearts. It is safe to say that in Saklatvala's defeat nobody will rejoice so deeply and gratefully as Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. One would say that the lingering ground for Conservative hope lies in the fact that the earliest returns are of necessity clearly urban. In general, Socialists thrive in industrial areas and Conservatives in the agricultural regions. There is a traditional antagonism between peasantry and proletariat. On the other hand, however, Scotland and Wales, both considered outlying parts, largely belong to Liberalism and Socialism, and since they have still their major part to play in the returns, little of Conservative hope can be centred on the remaining tidings of the vote.

What a wonderful change a single night has wrought, yesterday the great question was: "What possible coalition will follow this three-cornered struggle." This morning the sovereign enquiry uttered so exultantly by some, so despairingly by others, is: "What will be Ramsay MacDonald's majority over all."

Chant Requiem

There are many, of course, scions of ancient privilege, who even now are chanting a requiem to Britain's glory and declaring that Ichabod can be written over all that has given to the British name its grandeur. Those craven whinings will be hushed. This apparently prospective Socialist government has been tried before along broad and general lines. It brought neither calamity nor disgrace and so a majority in the house of commons will not mean the overthrow of the foundations of industry or the basic principles of empire. The unconquerable British heart will not cease to beat.

It is true that Mr. MacDonald's responsibility if what looks most likely comes to pass, will be as great as any ever entrusted to a human life. No second chamber will stay his hand "I tell you plainly" he said to me at Quebec last summer. "That if I am ever prime minister again I will tolerate no fooling from the Lords," and fortunately he is justly appraised as a man who will tolerate no surplus fooling from either lords or commoners. "We have every right to expect that this strong Scottish man, if the great trust be his, will prove that the human spirit is still equal to its sternest tasks and need never succumb to the most appealing of them. His Scottish moral principle will be his life preserver as he breasts these unprecedented waves. One thing he and his followers have already taught the world is that "Socialism" is not a target for cheap sneers and vulgar jibes, and that the massed will of the common people is the nearest thing we have to a voice from the judgment day. It is always presumptuous to interpret the messages from the divine, but one cannot but wonder by what things ordering this morning so fraught with bitterness and poisoned thought should yet call all the warning hosts of Britain to cease a moment from their war and listen by the bedside of their King, lest perchance they hear again the beating of the wings of the angel of death. That call will not be in vain, for that one burning light of loyalty and love is trimmed by all hands alike, however uplifted against each other. Clouds and mists may obscure the sun of British loyal hearts and true, but that sun itself shall not cease to pour forth its imperishable glory.

All At Sea

Beauty runs in cycles, it seems. For your Aunt Emma used to love a day behind the handle-bars, too, and here you see a modern miss reviving the pastime so popular in the 90's. Only it's a sea-cycle which Mlle. Aimee Pfanner, a French mannequin, is propelling across the English channel between Dover and Calais. She is pictured above pedaling for all she's worth—which is several columns of publicity.

TRAIN BISECTS TRUCK

NEW YORK, May 31.—James Murphy, 31, of Amityville, L. I., escaped death Saturday night when his motor truck was cut in half by the Cannon Ball Express of the Long Island railroad at the Strong's avenue grade crossing in Copiague. The train, eastbound, hit the truck amidship.

I. L. P. MAN ELECTED

James Maxton, fiery leader of the Independent Labor party wing of the Labor party, was re-elected in the Bridgeton division of Glasgow by a majority of more than 10,000 votes.

Maud—"Do you know, Bessie, Mr. Bransham paid me a great complimenth last night?"

Bessie—"No. What did he say?"

Maud—"He said I was among the prettiest girls at the party."

Bessie—"Yes; I noticed you were among them!"

A CIRCUS TRAGEDY

The Bulletin's Daily Short Story From Real Life

By HERBERT BERG

'The person who argues that dogs dumb brutes are either ignora- ses or liars. And the same goes horses. Why, we've got a lot of rses and dogs right here in this cus that have more brains than heluva lot of humans.

'And believe me, I ought to know. e been dealing with animals since was a kid and that's—well, that's re than forty years.

'Why we had one dog with this ow that had more human instincts an half the customers. Gypsy, that s her name. We called her Gyp. man instinct? Why, she even had rgiveness implanted in her heart."

Jerry stopped, abruptly. There was catch in his voice. He swallowed rd and he blinked rapidly. Then blew his nose, long and noisily. So just stood and looked out the win- w. There are times when it is best t to look at a fellow who is visibly fected.

As a lot of people up around Bridge- rt know, Jerry is and has been rking among animals for years. The b goes under the name of "keeper." t that doesn't mean a thing when comes to Jerry's duties and capa- ilities.

"It's a cinch Cleopatra knew Jumbo the minute she spotted him."

It was just a few weeks ago, while e circus was getting ready to move to the Garden that Jerry spoke his ind about the human element to be und in dogs and horses. He was tanding in a door from where he ould look out and almost into the ace of Cleopatra, beyond doubt one the finest specimens of female lions ver seen in or out of a circus. The xpression in Jerry's eyes seemed to e a confusing mixture of admiration nd hatred. With a sigh which could nly be from a rush of memories he urned and began the story which we resent to you in, as nearly as pos- ible, his own words.

"The most remarkable case of enuine, honest-to-God humanity I ver seen displayed was by Gyp while ith this very circus, and not so o many months ago, either. To give yp her just due, she derned near un the whole shebang. That is, she ueened it over anybody and every- hing and there wasn't a man or wo- an in the whole outfit but what as her actual slave.

A Dog's Life Has Its Troubles

"Perhaps Gyp's long suit was her bility to register almost every hu- an emotion in her eyes. Those eyes ere big, brown, soulful and might xpressive. And I'm tellin' yuh right ow, it was a derned shame she ouldn't talk—she could do everything se, even to makin' her every want nown.

"All in all, Gyp had four litters of ups and not a derned one of them ived. And don't tell me you could ot see the sorrow and suffering in er eyes. And mebbe you'll think it unny when I tell you that I seen ears in her eyes more than once and lways after her latest born had assed out.

"She had mother instinct, that's hat she had. Why, she'd try to other anything from the trained ander to a cub bear! And every ime she seen a pup she'd do her erndest to get it away from its other. Life is like that, you know. Haven't you seen women just like that? Bad luck with their offsprings and just simply crazy for a baby regardless of whether it was hers or not?

"Come over here. See that second cage out there with that lone 'cat' in it? Well, that's Cleopatra. She's a beauty, ain't she? I used to be able to stroke her head. Now I wouldn't get within a foot of her for the hull show, gate receipts and all. It ain't healthy, that's all.

"Cleopatra, too, had a little bad luck about raisin' a family. Her first contribution to the world's greatest circus was two cubs, but they both arrived dead. Later, along about last Christmas, to be exact, she had a litter of four. The dernedest, cutest jungle quartet I ever seen, and I've seen plenty.

"Well, within forty-eight hours three of them had died. The fourth, a male, just naturally was born with the strength and health that should have been divided among the four. Right away we dubbed him Jumbo. But we indulged in our admiration at a reasonably safe distance. Cleopatra was not takin' any chances of any one bein' too fermiliar with her one and only heir.

"Along about six weeks after Jumbo arrived I decided it would be wise to get the cub away from its mother and raise it on the bottle and by hand. I figgered we could have it for a pet for quite a while and if we ever wanted to use it in an anmal act Jumbo wouldn't be nearly so hard to handle. And take it from me, that was some ticklish job.

"We managed it without loss of life, however, but livin' around Cleopatra after that was nuthin' short of hell. She was ever on the alert, watchin' and waitin' to grab some luckless guy and rip off an arm or so afore we could stop her. It was nearly a month before she quit roarin' and whinin'. When she did quiet down she was just plumb sullen and sneakin'.

"Meanwhile I was havin' the time of my life with Jumbo. He was the cutest derned thing and seemed to like livin' around us humans bettern he did with his maw. Just like a Newfoundland pup, overgrown and awkward and yet always willin' and anxious to play.

"Jumbo's favorite playmate was Gyp. Gyp took kindly to this sort of arrangement at first. But the mother instinct soon cropped out and it was plain to be seen that Gyp had installed herself as Jumbo's foster mother. And the way she mothered that cute cub was a caution.

"Gyp seemed to know when it was feedin' time for Jumbo and she was always right there at every ceremony. No sooner would that sassy cub get its belly full than it would swagger over to Gyp, push and paw until he had succeeded in getting Gyp to lie down. That was grapes for the cub. He'd just naturally cuddle right into Gyp's hide and off for a snooze.

"It was great stuff watching these two. Gyp, too, developed that mother instinct until she was actually jealous of that cub. With the exception of me, she wouldn't let a blamed soul come near Jumbo. And when Gyp bared those long, sharp teeth, there wasn't any doubtin' her seriousness.

"During all this time I always had Jumbo tied with a long strap fitted to a sort of harness I had made for him, with the other end tied to a stake or a wagon wheel. That gave him eight or ten feet in which to roam and romp with Gyp.

"Well, things went along fine until one day Jumbo slipped his strap from a stake and started out on a personal tour of investigation. It's different when you've got a whole big top to explore after you've been tied down to a ten-foot limit. Gyp discovered that Jumbo was missing about the same time I did and thus it happened that we started out on the search together.

"It wasn't hard to find the young rascal. He had located a peanut stand and the smell of goober seemed to be rather invitin'. By the time we caught up with the cub, the guy in charge of the stand had turned over all the peanuts, popcorn and other junk to Jumbo. The whole derned place was Jumbo's without the askin'.

"And Jumbo was doin' his best to climb up a slippery oilcloth to the goobers when Gyp stepped in and took charge of the situation. She simply grabbed the other end of the leather strap and yanked Jumbo out into the open. Jumbo didn't like it, but he soon decided he would rather romp with Gyp than break his neck tryin' to get a load of peanuts.

"It developed into a regular tug of war between the two and quite a crowd gathered about to see the fun. Of course, Gyp could put it all over Jumbo if she had wanted to, but she seemed to delight in lettin' the cub pull and yank her around. In the melee, they managed to upset one of the stands which was loaded with cheap cigars and cigarettes.

"It was a rain of tobacco which fell on that cub and you should have seen him beat it. He didn't know where he was goin', but he was sure on his way. I took up the chase with Gyp far in the lead and to my way of thinkin' able to stop that lumberin' fool any time she wanted to.

"But, as I'm tellin' you, Gyp was just about as human as you or me. She seemed to enjoy trotting along behind, keepin' just beyond reach of that strap. All at once Jumbo seemed to take the notion that his canvas home was too derned confinin' and the next thing I knowed he'd took a duck right under the canvas and out onto the lot.

"Gyp was right after him, while I was puffin' along a dismal third. By the time I had crawled under the canvas, I was just about winded and had begun to quit seein' anything funny about the whole blamed business. There were a lot of folks outside and they got the kick of their lives. A stray dog got into the game and I reckon as how he thought it was a game of tag.

"At any rate he got too close to Jumbo. That was Gyp's cue and he took it. The old girl put on speed, took a healthy piece of flesh out of the unwelcome stranger's hip and that ended that. But Jumbo was evidently of the opinion that he was out for a marathon and determined to win it.

"He skirted the crowd and before you could say 'Jack Robinson' was back under the canvas again, this time across the ground from where he had made his exit and right under a lot of cages housing a lot of cats, monkeys and so forth.

"If this sounds funny to you, go ahead and grin, but it wasn't funny to me at that time. I was quite willin' to lay down right there and cuss.

"I had just wriggled under the canvas and had come up behind one of the cages when I heard the damnedest roar that ever a cat let loose. And don't you think I didn't know what cat had let loose with that terrible noise.

"It was Cleopatra!

"You see, after Jumbo and Gyp had come back under the canvas, Gyp had grabbed the strap with her teeth. I guess she had decided the fun had gone far enough, and, if she was feelin' anything like me, she must have been out of breath, too. Well, there they were, out in the open and again havin' thir old tug of war.

"But the hell of it was, they was tugging right in front of Cleopatra's cage. At that very minute one of the keepers was cleaning out the old girl's cage and had thoughtlessly left the end door only partly closed.

"Now if you don't think that a mother lion can recognize her own child, regardless of a long separation, you're daffy. It's a cinch Cleopatra knew Jumbo the minute she spotted him. And what's more, that terrible roar more than convinced me that she had the idea that the cub was being mistreated by Gyp.

Well, with that roar she gave one powerful lunge at the door. The force was so great that even that old agile cat couldn't gain her feet as she flew outward and toward the ground. The keeper went sailin' over backwards and later they took him to the hospital with a broken shoulder and a fractured jaw.

"But Cleopatra was on her feet quicker than it takes to tell it and with about three leaps she had reached the scene and had both paws on poor Gyp. It was just awful. I can hear those awful growls yet as she clawed that poor dog.

When a Dog Showed Undeniable Forgiveness

"I was so excited I didn't know what I was doin'. I rushed right over to within ten feet of that terrible sight before I got some sense and began to back up. But Cleopatra didn't even give me a look. When she seemed satisfied that she had put poor Gyp out of business, she squatted down on all fours, calmly took her cub between her massive paws and held him like a vise while she licked him as though she was famished for love.

"I stood there like one in a dream, not even reaalizin' my own danger. I was lookin' at that bleedin', quiverin' form lyin' close to Cleopatra. And then I could hardly believe my eyes. Gyp, no doubt knowin' she was dyin', managed somehow or other to crawl or drag herself over to the hind feet of the old girl who had ripped her.

"And her dyin' act was to stick out her bloody tongue and lick the hind foot of that big cat, her murderer.

"And I'm tellin' you that if ever a dog's eyes talked, Gyp's did. She seemed to be sayin' to Cleopatra:

" 'It's all right, old girl. I was doin' my best, but you didn't understand.'

"It wasn't hard to get Cleopatra back into her cage as long as she was allowed to keep her cub with her. But the guy that tells me that a dog's a dumb brute is—well, a whole lot dumber than the dog. Gyp, poor Gyp, was human."

OKALTA OILS APPEAL ORDER FOR SECURITY

Calgary Supreme Court Has Busy Session on Thursday

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

CALGARY, May 31.—Appeal of the Okalta Oils, Ltd., asking for an order directing the Alberta Petroleum Consolidated Co. to provide security for costs in the forthcoming action in which the latter company is seeking to recover 66 acres of land now claimed by the Okalta Co. is being heard in the appellate division of the Supreme Court today. This order was refused by Mr. Justice Boyle in Supreme Court six weeks ago. Argument for the appellant was heard Thursday afternoon.

Case Completed

Judgment was reserved in the appeal of A. E. Norland, Crossfield, when the case was completed Thursday. The appeal was entered against decision of Mr. Justice Boyle in Supreme Court last November when he granted an order setting aside a mortgage made out by the plaintiff, Norland, to his wife for $1,453 on the grounds that it was a fraudulent document.

The Crossfield school district had when the order had been granted, been able to colect costs for a previous action between it and the plaintiff, Norland, and hence appeared as respondent in teh appeal against the action for setting aside of the order of Mr. Justice Boyle.

Recent Amendment

In giving judgment for the defendant-respondent in the appeal of Anton Kulyk, Oyen, their lordships ruled that an action in district court could not be entered in another judicial district other than the one in which the defendant named in the action in question was residing. Their decision, it was pointed out, was based on a recent amendment to the District Court Act.

Anton Kulyk, Oyen, plaintiff-appellant, entered the appeal against the decision of his Honor, Judge Stewart, at Hanna, when he refused to give an order granting directions in the case which had been transferred from the Edmonton district court to the Hanna district court when the case appeared before his Honor, Judge Taylor, at Edmonton. The action was brought in the Edmonton court by Kulyk for recovery of a debt of $150 against the defendant, S. L. Klein, also of the Oyen district.

J. J. Kelly, Oyen, acting for the respondent, argued that there was no jurisdiction for the commencement of the action in the Edmonton court, and also argued that there was no jurisdiction for the transfer of the action from the Edmonton court to the Hanna court, since the action had been wrongly entered in the Edmonton court. This argument was upheld by their Lordships, and hence the case was dismissed.

Reparations Bill Gets Third Reading

Canadian Press

OTTAWA, May 31.—The Commons bill which provides for the payment of claims for compensation of loss sustained by the civil population of Canada during the late war received third reading in the Senate Thursday afternoon. The Senate also passed third reading of the bill amending the special war revenue act. This act provides for the imposition of new share transfer tax. The bill extending the period wherein returned soldiers may make application for insurance under the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act and the Act amending the Supreme Court Act were also passed.

EXCHANGE HOLIDAY

MONTREAL, May 31.—It was announced today that the Montreal exchange would take a three day holiday this coming week-end. Monday, June 3, is the King's birthday, and a legal holiday, so it was decided to suspend business on Saturday also.

CALGARY MAN IS DEFEATED

Lt.-Col. Critchley Beaten in Three-cornered Election

Canadian Press Cable

LONDON, May 31.—Up to 2 a.m. two Canadians had been elected and one defeated in the general elections. Col. Grant Morden, native of Prince Edward county, Ontario, and founder of the Canada Steamship Lines, was re-elected Conservative member for Brentford and Chiswick. The former Canadian army officer was opposed by Dr. Stella Churchill, Labor, and Captain J. Stevenson, Liberal.

A. W. Haycock, who was born in Cataraqui, Ont., was elected in Salford West, where he made a gain for Labor from Conservatives.

Brig.-Gen. Alfred Cecil Critchley, D.S.O., native of Calgary, Alta., was defeated in a three-cornered contest in Gorton, Manchester.

J. F. Sweetin, industrial commissioner for the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines, with headquarters at Winnipeg, is a business visitor in Edmonton for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Moore and one son have arrived from England to settle in the Wainwright district, being placed by the land settlement branch.

G. D. Brophy, district passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, is a business visitor in Edmonton. Mr. Brophy reports that holiday business this year is well ahead of last, and that a very large number of Canadians are making the trip through to Alaska. He has just returned from this trip, and reports that bookings on all boats going in are booked to capacity.

WHEAT PRICES HIT NEW LOWS AT WINNIPEG

Weakness Sets in When Reports of Prairie Rains Arrive

WINNIPEG, May 31.—Though Liverpool and Chicago markets continued to lower price levels on wheat, Winnipeg showed improvement today. Closing quotations were from 2¼ to 1½c better than the prices which yesterday marked up new low records without equal for half a doen years.

Offerings were light and it appeared that yesterday's heavy liquidation had shaken most of the weaker holders out of the market. Closing figures were: May, $1.07; July, $1.07½ bid; October, $1.05¼ bid.

WINNIPEG, May 31.—In a flood of heavy selling, wheat prices on the Winnipeg grain exchange sank to new low levels Thursday, with the closing figures 5⅝ to 4⅝ below Wednesday's final quotations. May futures closed at 104¾; July at 105⅝, and October 103½ to ⅝, representing a decline of approximately 30 cents as compared with a year ago.

Weakness set in at the opening and became more pronounced when reports of general rains in Western Canada arrived. Tired leaders liquidated freely, and when new low had been touched, stop-loss selling on a large scale developed. Support was scattered and of indifferent character.

The decline continued despite a cable from London which stated that 1,000,000 bushels of Manitobas and Argentine wheats had been taken yesterday for June shipment.

According to shippers and exporters, export trade overnight was very dull, and there was no confirmation of any business in important quantities.

Montreal Terminal Act Now Amended

Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Ont., May 31. — Three amendments to the Montreal Terminals act, which authorizes the construction by the Canadian National Railways of terminal facilities and overhead approach in the Quebec Metropolis at a cost of $50,000,000 were moved in the house of commons today. The amendments were designed to meet the objections of the opposition in connection with questions of jurisdiction as between the board of railway commissioners and the governor-general-in-council.

CREATIVE IDEAS
VS.
OBSOLESCENCE
MANY men and organizations fail to keep abreast of the times because they hold fast too long to traditional ideas and worn out methods of production.
WESTCRAFT has made progress because obsolescent ideas have been discarded whenever they conflicted with the most modern methods of better production in the La Fleche workshop.
THE HIGH QUALITY and moderate prices of Westcraft commend themselves to the man of taste who is looking for something better than ordinary clothes.

FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1929

ONE IN THREE

No one expects to be poor when he is old. The dream of youth and of middle age is that some day one's ship will come in, laden with wealth enough to assure a comfortable living in the declining years of life. For that men slave and save—and even steal. For most, the incentive to industry and thrift is the fear that poverty may befall when the earning years have passed.

It is informing to note that in Saskatchewan, 27 per cent of the residents who are 70 or more years of age are drawing old age pensions. In Manitoba the proportion is 35 per cent; in British Columbia 36 per cent. Thus, in this western country, rich in opportunities, only two out of three persons who reach 70 years of age have then an income of a dollar a day. Even in prosperous Canada old age pensions meet a need that is real.

LOOKING FOR "CRUDE"

Relatively little crude oil has been found in Turner Valley. The bulk of the production there is naphtha, extracted from the enormous valume of wet gas which blows from wells driven into the limestone. Valuable as this is, there is a limit to the market for gasoline; and there is also a market for lubricating oil and for petroleum products, which can only be obtained from the heavier crude.

It is crude oil, rather than naphtha, that the drillers are seeking, in Turner Valley and elsewhere. It is the desire for crude that is causing renewed interest in the Wainwright and other promising fields. A large "find" of this would be more valuable even than the naphtha deposit that has brought the southern district to the atention of the world. The field in which crude oil is found in great quantities will be the "real" Alberta oilfield.

A CALL FOR ACTION

Reports early this morning credited the Labor party in Great Britain with having fifty per cent more candidates elected than all other parties combined. The Government at that hour had lost 41 seats and gained one. These returns, representing results in ridings in nearly all parts of the country, hardly leave room for doubt that Britain's next government will be a Labor government, and that it will have a majority large enough to carry on in its own strength.

The people of Britain, it is to be inferred, have wearied of what Bonar Law called "tranquillity", and want to try the effect of a more forceful policy. Industrial conditions in the old lands are on the mend, but the progress is slow. With millions subsisting on pittances handed out weekly by the state, unemployment is the ugliest question with which the administration and the public have to do. Mr. Baldwin having failed to get quick results, the impatient voters have turned to Mr. MacDonald.

THE CANADIAN CLUB

The function of the Canadian club is peculiar to itself. It is not a service club, nor a fraternal association, nor a commercial organization. It has only one purpose; to cultivate a whole-hearted, broad-minded, tolerant but aggressive Canadianism. Perhaps the lack of a specific business, social or philanthropic objective helps to explain why Canadian clubs do not usually have large memberships. People will rally to accomplish a definite end. And we rather take Canadianism for granted on the part of Canadian residents.

But there is room and need in every large community in the Dominion for a live Canadian club. Our country is yet young. Its character and characteristics are in the making. And there is entering into our national life every year a great multitude of people who know little about Canadian history, ideals and ambitions. These conditions make the Canadian club an institution that is very much worth while. To the extent that it makes for understanding, sympathy and unity among the many strains which are blending to make the future Canadian people it will have a wide and lasting influence. It is gratifying to know that the club in Edmonton is making substantial growth, with prospects for an active and useful year.

Modern Miss Muffet

By EDGAR A. GUEST

The little Miss Muffet, who sat on a tuffet
And ran from a spider one day
Now is several years older, and certainly bolder,
And eats no more curdles and whey.

She's brimming with vigor, she's quick on the trigger,
She's wise as the oldest are wise,
With sophisticate mocking, she's constantly shocking
The parents who seek to advise.

Though scarcely turned twenty, of nerve she has plenty,
She needs no protector or nurse,
Miss Muffet, grown stunning, no longer is running
From spiders or beetles or worse.

Now a wily old spider one day sat beside her
And sought in his web to enmesh
The charming Miss Muffet who sat on a tuffet—
His manners were certainly fresh.

Did she run from him screaming, disturbed by his scheming?
Did she flee from the scene in dismay?
Not at all. With a chuckle, she landed a knuckle
At the spot where his whiskers are gray.

Miss Muffet, grown older, and wiser and bolder,
Said: "Spider, your nonsense is done!
Though once from my dinner I ran, your old sinner,
Today it is your turn to run!"

Cold Courage

By GLENN FRANK

In his "Preface to Morals," Walter Lippman suggests that to understand the inward meaning of courage is to have understood almost all the other important virtues.

And he has coined the phrase "cold courage" to describe what seems to him the highest kind of courage.

Mr. Lippman defines courage as "the willingness to face situations from which it would be more or less natural to run away." This definition rules out, as being courageous, the running of a risk if the seriousness of the risk is not realized. But with this reservation, Mr. Lippman seems to divide the varieties of courage roughly into two classifications, viz:

First, useless courage.

Second, useful courage.

Going over Niagara Falls in a barrel, he suggests, is useless, but, after all, brave. Personally, I dislike to see such noble words as bravery or courage used to describe this sort of risk-taking. I should like to see the word courage wholly reserved for ventures that are creative and that have a moral content.

No single act would, in my judgment, be called courageous unless it springs from a quality of character that a man will bring into play under other circumstances and in other situations. And I doubt that the high diver or the man who goes over Niagara Falls in a barrel is much more likely, because of his stunt, to be courageous in other situations.

I should like to reserve the term courage exclusively for exhibitions of what Mr. Lippman has called cold courage. And here are three cases Mr. Lippman has in mind when he speaks of cold courage:

Noguchi, the Japanese scientist, in failing health, with full knowledge of the danger involved, went into one of the most disease-infested sections of Africa to study a deadly disease.

Colonel Lindbergh, with full knowledge of the peril involved and apparently without realization of the renown and reward later to be his, flew alone across the Atlantic.

Four soldiers, whose very names are lost from the memory of most men save the keepers of the hospital records, let themselves be used for the study of typhoid.

Here were men fully realizing the danger and without immediate excitement to conceal the danger bravely did useful things. For such, should the word courage be reserved.

Do You Remember?

FORTY YEARS AGO

From the Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday, May 25th, 1889.

On May 13th the London police raided the Field Club and arrested the Earl of Dudley, Lords Lurgan and Paulet, Baron Ferraro and a number of other gentlemen who were gambling.

The Mounted Police act has been amended to give the commissioner and assistant commissioner powers of stipendiary magistrates. The constables of the force are constables in every province of Canada and the officers are now given powers in the provinces equal to those they have in the Northwest. This power is given on account of the force being sometimes employed in Manitoba and British Columbia. The police are given power to enter premises and search for liquor.

The president of the C.P.R. in a recent address advised the construction of a branch line of 100 miles from Brandon to Souris. He said: "The country along the Souris river is well settled and is suffering for want of railway facilities, and the early construction of the line is necessary besides for the protection of your interests in south-western Manitoba." The latter part of the quotation shows only one beneficial effect of the presence of the N.P. and M. in Manitoba.

In the debate on the grant of land to the railway from Calgary to Edmonton, Mulock spoke in favor of the lands being made taxable as soon as earned by the company. Sir John Macdonald said: "If the company had to pledge themselves to pay taxes on the land they would rather not have the land at all."

THIRTY YEARS AGO

From the Edmonton Bulletin, Monday, May 29th, 1899.

A new washing apparatus for the Loveland dredge arrived Monday.

Archdeacon Macdonald reached Winnipeg on Thursday from London, Eng., where he has completed the work of translating the Bible into the Tukudth language, which is the language spoken in the lower Yukon valley.

The departure of the treaty commission has lifted a weight from the shoulders of the local N.W.M.P., who for the last week have had to guard $36,400 in negotiable bills, which the commission took north to pay to the Indians as treaty money.

The treaty and scrip commissions left for the north today. The party numbers about 60 including the Police escort and the H.B. boatmen.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Daily Bulletin, Monday, May 31st, 1909.

M. Boutinel, representing French capitalists, will appear before the city council tonight with a proposal to take over the radial part of the city's street railway franchise and build lines to outlying points.

Prof. Kohl will give four balloon ascensions and parachute drops during the exhibition.

A straw man with a fish pole beside one of the mudholes on Namayo avenue this morning indicates what some one thought of the condition of that street.

TEN YEARS AGO

From the Morning Bulletin, Friday, May 30th, 1919.

The strike is over so far as the municipal administration is concerned, and today will see practically all the city employees back at work and services more or less as usual.

Versailles—Germany's reply to the Allied peace terms has been handed to the council of four. Among other things, Germany refuses to surrender the ex-Kaiser and demands trial of the Allied blockade ministers.

Berlin—An attempt is being made to establish a separate republic in the Rhineland.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Diet Specialist and Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions on Health and Diet Answered by Dr. McCoy, when addressed in care of The Edmonton Bulleain

THE WEEK'S MENUS

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, June 2nd:

Sunday: Breakfast—Crisp waffle, with a little maple syrup. Small piece of broiled ham. Lunch—Corn on cob, spinach, salad of chopped cabbage and cold cooked string beans. Dinner—Baked chicken, asparagus, steamed carrots, salad of raw celery. Raspberry ice cream.

Frank McCoy

Monday: Breakfast—Coddled eggs, Melba toast, five stewed prunes. Lunch—Grapefruit as desired. Dinner—Broiled steak, squash, cooked celery. Salad of lettuce and tomatoes. Pineapple whip.

Tuesday: Breakfast—French omelet on re-toasted Shredded Wheat Biscuit, Stewed raisins. Lunch—Boiled potatoes, cooked greens, such as kale or dandelions. Dinner—Roast mutton, cooked string beans, buttered beets. Salad of shredded raw cabbage. Cup cuttard.

Wednesday: Breakfast—Whole wheat muffins, peanut butter, pear sauce. Lunch—Raw apples and pecans. Dinner—Vegetable soup. Boiled lean beef, baked grated carrots, spinach. Salad of chopped cucumbers in beef jelly. Dish of berries.

Thursday: Breakfast—Poached eggs on Melba toast, Stewed raisins. Lunch—Stewed corn, 5-minute cabbage, lettuce. Dinner—Broiled lamb chops, cooked celery, eggplant. Cauliflower salad. Jello with cream.

Friday: Breakfast—Cottage cheese, sliced pineapple. Lunch—Choice of as much as desired of any one of the fresh acid fruits, such as apples, oranges, etc. Dinner—Baked sea bass. *Baked stuffed tomatoes. String bean salad. No dessert.

Saturday: Breakfast—Baked eggs, toasted Triscuit, Stewed figs. Lunch—Pint of buttermilk, 10 or 12 dates. Dinner—Roast pork. French artichokes, baked ground beets. Molded vegetable salad of green peas, celery. Baked apple, no cream.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes: Remove the interior from the desired number of firm tomatoes, but do not peel. Mix this scooped out portion with the same amount of chopped mushrooms and a smaller amount of finely ground celery. Fill tomatoes to overflowing and around sides with this mixture, and sprinkle Melba toast crumbs over all. Bake in earthenware or cooking glass in moderate oven for about twenty minutes. (Longer cooking renders the tomatoes too mushy). Add a generous lump of butter to each tomato with a sprinkling of chopped parsley when ready to serve.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: Mrs. A. D. writes: "My nose is swollen all the time. Is there any relief in a correct diet?"

Answer: You do not say whether or not the swelling is caused by pimples or boils in your nose. If this is the cause, of course it can be entirely eliminated through a correct diet. A red nose usually comes from some irritation of the alimentary canal and is also curable through diet and promoting intestinal cleanliness.

Question: Reader asks: "What is the cause of sudden hungriness? If I do not eat the minute I feel hungry I become terribly weak. I am also underweight."

Answer: Most people will have a feeling of gnawing when their stomach becomes empty, although this is not true hunger. This gnawing or empty feeling often makes a person nervous and he will suffer from the delusion that he is suddenly quite weak. He will then believe that he feels strength immediately upon eating. Food cannot give you any real strength until after it has been in the body for at least four hours. For your underweight I would advise you to select your food very carefully and not try to "stuff" to gain. Just keep your diet iell balanced.

Question: E. I. H. asks: "What is arterial tension? How do we know when we have it?"

Answer: The amount of arterial tension which you have is determined by an examination with a blood pressure meter which every doctor uses in his office. Such arterial tension may come from hardening of the arteries or from nervousness, which causes the arteries to become contracted most of the time.

Question—Frank A. G. asks: "What causes the skin to become rashed and peel after shaving? I am 21 years old and have been shaving a couple of years. Is it possible that one can naturally have a skin so tender?"

Answer—Some skins are so thin and tender that great care must be used in shaving. See that your razor is as sharp as possible, and also use a small amount of cold cream on your face before lathering your beard and then again after shaving.

Referee (excitedly): "The bell rang for the eleventh round!"

Much-Bruised Boxer: "Oh, let's sit this one out."

Astrology

By BELLE BART

Planetary Influences on Saturday, June 1

Favorable for beginning new plans in connection with business enterprise. It is the unexpected occurrence which may bring the greatest returns in connection with all projects. This is an exceptionally fine day for dealing with creative work and the public, for literature, art and music. Care is necessary in financial expenditures to avoid extravagance. It is not propitious for signing papers.

For Those Whose Birthday Is Tomorrow

If you were born on June 1 you have a dominating nature and can attain dignity and rank, and may have responsibility thrust upon you. Success is assured provided you put forth the necessary effort when the opportunities are offered. Your best efforts would be expended in any work dealing with literature, salesmanship, art, manufacturing, travelling, horticulture or design. The most favorable periods for attempting anything reasonable in nature where beneficial results are required are the spring of 1930, the winter of 1931, the summer of 1932.

Brigham Young, Born June 1, 1801

An example of a person born on June 1 is Brigham Young, celebrated leader of the Mormons, whose horoscope reveals a dualistic, restless nature, aggressive and egotistical. A freedom of thought, reflected in the candor of his activities, is indicated. A love of sensationalism is a marked characteristic. The love nature is dualistic, indicating a love for one person in one direction, and an ability to estimate value along the same lines in an entirely different person. At his death he had seventeen wives. Another person born on this day is John Drinkwater, author of the play "Abraham Lincoln."

Planetary Influences for Sunday, June 2

Favorable for taking journeys.

GRAIN BUYER EXPLAINS

Editor, Bulletin:

In your paper of Saturday, May 25, you have a report of the grain commission enquiry and quite a write-up of the activities of the U.G.G. agent at Gainford. It may be all right for the commission to put a buyer on trial and condemn him without a chance to defend himself, but in this case it don't go. When Mr. Sporleder states that he or any other farmer hauled grain in to Gainford that would grade No. 2 Northern he is not stating facts regarding any grain that came under my notice, and I think it is up to the commission to demand some proofs before they accept such statements.

In regard to the sample from Russia which he is supposed to have produced, Mr. Sporleder told me personally that his old dad did not send him a sample but sent him the government shipping certificate. He certainly showed me a certificate covering 4,000 bushels of No. 5 wheat instead of No. 2 Northern as he states, that was shipped from Port Arthur and reshipped at a U.S.A. port for Russia.

In regard to Mr. Sporleder's own grain I sent two samples to the Edmonton government inspector, one sample graded No. 5 and one No. 4. There was no doubt of a grade difference between his two lots of wheat. I would like to state here that in 15 years' experience buying grain the Edmonton office has in my opinion always given the fairest and most consistent grading of any government inspector.

One thing about these inquiries always strikes me as peculiar. When the commission requires information from a farmer, why do they not go to a real farmer for it, a man who grows enough grain to know what marketing is. In this case there are lots of real farmers around Leduc, Wetaskiwin or Millet who could tell about farming from A to Z. Instead of which they get evidence from points where the farmers grow very little grain.

I also notice the chairman told Mr. Sporleder to go back and tell the agent that he should get No. 2 Northern for his wheat. With all due respect to that gentleman and his office, I would respectfully state that the U.G.G. agent at Gainford takes his orders from the company that pays his salary.

In conclusion I would like to say that a grain buyer has to have the best of references for ten years back before he can get an elevator or get his bonds, and yet he is always held up as the prince of crooks in all these so-called enquiries. No grain company that I have ever bought grain for have ever encouraged the under-grading of grain, but all have demanded a fair, clean business.

W. T. YOUNGS,
Agent U.G.G., Gainford.

Keeping Mentally Fit

PRICE AND VALUE

I heard it said the other day of one of these well-posted business men that he knew the price of everything and the value of nothing. The tribe of price-knowers who are not value-knowers is a large one. It isn't what things cost but what they are worth that is the prime consideration; though common sense recognizes the close relation that exists (or should) between the two. It's so much easier to find out what things cost than what they are worth that the temptation is strong to accept the price-mark as the value. Needless to say that if you had an unerring sense of value, you wouldn't need any advice on mental fitness. Wisdom is a pearl beyond price because it confers a sense of value.

The basis of value is set by the satisfaction of human needs; and those needs find a place in a general scale of human values.

What is the relative value of health, wealth, happiness? Within this scale you set up a scale of your own—what things are worth to you. Convention determines a lot of it; we can't, certainly we don't determine our values so much as we accept those that are current or in fashion.

What value have diamonds? To be attracted by a shiny reflection doesn't seem a very high order of value; you really can't dazzle by glitter of diamonds if you have no attractions otherwise. Rhinestones have a softer quality and are more beautiful, more esthetic. The only use-value of a diamond is to cut glass. The beauty value or decorative value isn't very high; their price is what people are willing to pay for them. If there were a general agreement that diamonds are vulgar the diamond market would collapse. Nobody would want them; they would meet no need.

As a rule a need is met which is a real value, but in addition to the one need satisfied, others enter, and all more or less subject to this fluctuation of the psychological value market. In many a home a piano represents less a means of satisfying a musical need than it does keeping up with the Joneses—or rather it did before the days of victrolas and radios. That social value is perfectly legitimate whether it appears in pianos or clothes, automobiles or luxuries generally. But doing things to show that you can afford them isn't the highest kind of value.

Sooner or later we reach the point at which we ask ourselves in regard to whether we spend money or time or energy upon the critical question: What do we get out of it? The answer is the real value. Those things are of most worth that satisfy those needs that help you in your goal in living, a sort of life satisfaction. And that, in the common almost "bromidic" remark is the value that money can't buy. You can't buy friends, you can't buy esteem, reputation or social position or an important office—or can you? Well if you can, you feel that it's all wrong—it's a bribe; it's an attack on a proper scale of values. If we really believed that every man has his price our faith in human values would tumble. It's the old conflict of driving the money changers out of the temple.

More practically, that critical sense of value that is to be cultivated in the interests of mental fitness, is to be exercised every day and much of the day, and all year round. Consider values more and prices less. Values cumulate as the critical habit grows. You may collect treasures or junk. As you grow your sense of value grows and changes. What helped you to grow was worth its cost.

Robert Quillen Says:—

The motives of men are mixed, but the chief ingredient nearly always is sordid.

The chief ingredient nearly always is greed.

When a nation goes to war, orators and writers do their part by appealing to the vanity of the people, and there is frenzied talk of saving the home fires, making the world free, liberating the oppressed, establishing the true faith, and things like that.

But back of all this idealism, however sincere is may be, is a cold and heartless greed for gain. It is money that nations fight for, and every war in history had its origin in conflicting property rights or the hope of loot.

When friends are estranged, each will attempt to make his cause seem just and will tell of the other's ingratitude, disloyalty, unfairness or discourtesy; but if you sift the evidence you will discover, in nearly every case, that the quarrel began in greed—that one of them has or attempted to get a dollar claimed by the other.

Is the church split into factions, one denouncing the pastor and the other defending him? If so, there are charges and counter-charges of unrighteousness and false doctrine and favoritism; but the quarrel began because one group wished to cut the pastor's salary and the other did not, or one group planned to spend church funds for an organ and the other preferred giving the money to the heathen. However complicated the quarrel may become, money began it.

When a mother-in-law makes trouble, she may believe her dislike of her daughter's husband was inspired by his gambling or his late hours or his drinking; but the truth is she liked him in spite of these faults until he deeded a piece of property to his old mother or began to educate a younger brother or cut his wife's allowance. She would like him still if there had been no talk of money.

Wives and husbands quarrel for many reasons and each finds in the other many faults to condemn when the quarrel is in progress; but when the conflict is traced to its origin, there you find a dollar.

Your vanity assures you that your quarrels are just and your motives noble, and you have convinced yourself that the people you dislike are unworthy of your respect; but if you will be honest and trace every "spat" to its beginning, you will find there another case of greed fighting greed or spoil.

If you enjoy fooling yourself, you talk about "the principle of the thing;" but this much is certain: if no property had been involved there would have been no quarrel.

You may feel righteous as you reveal the motives that inspire you in a conflict; but purge your quarrel of its property element—the hope of gain or fear of loss—so that money no longer plays any part in it—and nine times in ten you have nothing left to quarrel about.

On This Date—

MAY 31st

Beyond all the dreams of a journalist out for copy would be the idea of a murder in St. James' Palace. And yet that renowned edifice has had its mystery of murder—a mystery that, by the way, was never solved. The full story has been told by Mr. Charles E. Pearce in his book "Unsolved Murder Mysteries." The story is eerie enough. In the early hours of this day, May 31, 1810, the porter on duty was startled by the appearance of the Duke of Cumberland's English valet, Neale. In all truth he had reason to be, for the valet stood, distraught, with a reeking sabre in his hand, and announced that the Duke had been murdered. This was incorrect, however, for the Duke appeared behind him, upright yet weak from wounds. Now the Duke had also an Italian valet named Selles, and when search was made for him he was found murdered upon his bed. Neale's story was that he had been awakened by calls from the Duke; had trodden upon the bloodstained sabre; picked it up and then proceeded downstairs with the Duke. The Duke's deposition was that he had been awakened by violent blows, had struggled out of bed, heard the naked sabre drop on the floor, and seen a figure flying in the direction of the room in which Selles slept. An attempt was made to place the murderous attack on the Duke at Selle's door, and assert that he had afterwards committed suicide. Selles, however, had been found lying peacefully in his bed with his arms on the back of his head. Such was the mystery of St. James' Palace. There was a good deal of comment and insinuation, as the character of the Duke was not above reproach; but no solution. A curious feature of the case was the official opening of the bed-rooms of the Duke and Selles for the inspection of the public. People paraded through this "chamber of horrors" until the hot weather finally came to put an end to the morbid curiosity.

President Sounds Optimistic Note at I.O.D.E. Convention

Mrs. John Stuart Tells National Gathering at Victoria of Memorial

Canadian Press

VICTORIA, B.C., May 31—In her presidential address at the opening of the 28th annual meeting of the National Chapter Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, in the Empress hotel last night, Mrs. John A. Stewart of Perth ,Ont., brought before the delegates for their consideration and action during the coming year: Self-education of each member in the work being done by the order as a whole to be accompanied by co-operation between the different chapters; increase in membership; wholehearted support of the order's education and immigration policies; child welfare activities, and steady progress in the formation of girl guide companies as a means to draw the younger generations of women into the order's ranks.

"If each member makes some contribution along these lines the progress in the next 12 months will be an amazing one," Mrs. Stewart said.

War Memorial Important

Mrs. Stewart said the most important matter of the order's internal politics that would come before the order this year was the question of the administration of the war memorial. The president recalled that on the question being raised last year as to the legality of such administration in the past, a committee was appointed by the national chapter to take action to establish such legality and to put the war memorial on a basis that could not be questioned. After the committee had worked on the matter with the order's legal advisers, the results would be laid before the delegates for their endorsation at this meeting, she said.

The memorial committee, she said, had a difficult task, and had given of their very best to ensure smooth sailing for those who would administer the order in the future. Mrs. Stewart said it was necessary to go before the provincial legislature and secure an act that established the right of the national chapter to administer the war memorial fund for all time through its committee appointed for that purpose.

School Girls' Tour

The past year had been one of importance to the order, in more ways than one, the president said. It started with the order's tour of English school girls, of which the delegates would receive full reports during the meeting. This "very successful piece of empire propaganda," she said, "demonstrated that the order's most valuable asset was the spirit of unity, which should be fostered and guarded by each and every member as part of her personal obligation."

The president urged the delegates to study carefully the report on immigration, closely allied with the order's educational work, to be presented to the meeting. "Our organization, by its very being," she said, "has put itself on record as chiefly concerned with the building up of a strong Canadian citizenship, British in its ideals, traditions and affiliations, so it behooves us to watch this question very carefully and to do our share, perhaps even more than our share, in ensuring this result."

After referring to the recent ceremony at Ottawa, where the portrait of the order's foundress, the late Mrs. Clark Murray, was unveiled in the Archives Building, Mrs. Stewart discussed the child welfare work of the order, which she said was a very valuable contribution to the national well-being. While this year there had been nothing very conspicuous reported, she said steady progress had been made in the various undertakings to build up Canadian citizenship along healthy, sane, British lines.

The report of the national director of Girl Guide Companies was a very encouraging feature of this year's work, Mrs. Stewart said, and the importance of this department could hardly be over-estimated.

Mrs. Stewart reported some slight increase in the order's membership this year, but she urged the chapters to concentrate on a much greater increase for the year to come. As the work of the order grew in breadth and importance the cost of its administration was bound to rise in proportion, she said, and this should be met by a larger membership.

"No generations in the history of mankind have ever had the responsibilities to the future that our generations have today, especially in a new and potential country such as this dominion," Mrs. Stewart said. "When you become a member of this order, you admit such responsibilities, and it is only by helping each other, building up our order, increasing our membership and closing up our ranks, that we can fulfill the great destiny that lies before us as a loyal body of British women in this our beloved land, the leading dominion of our great empire."

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

VEGETABLES MADE INTO ATTRACTIVE PERSONALITIES

Mrs. G. W. H. writes:

"I noticed in your valuable column a query about making vegetables attractive to children. May I offer a suggestion? It has helped my little daughter, aged two and one-half.

Baby Buck, Lloydminster.

"Several months ago I made a chart of black cardboard and on it glued portions of vegetables made from colored paper and 'humanized' the eyes, mouths, hands and feet. They are Helen's little friends and she has named them 'Carrie Carrot', 'Billy Bean', 'Sally Spinach', 'Oswald Onion', and so on, and they hang in Helen's bedroom. They have become very real to her and she wouldn't think of not eating them when they come especially for her dinner, lest their feelings be hurt.

"When I am preparing dinner, she watches me and the conversation is often, 'Oh, there are Carrie Carrot and Billy Bean! But where is Sally Spinach?'

"To which I say, 'Sally couldn't come today, but she will come tomorrow.'

When we go shopping she helps pick out the vegetables and says, 'There are my friends'."

Answer

What child could fail to feel an interest in vegetables that seemed so personal to her?

Right in line with this same excellent suggestion is the idea of letting children cut out pictures of vegetables and cereals from the colored advertisements of them, and then after seeing what is being prepared in the kitchen choose their dinner and select the same in pictured form. The glowing pictures lend flavor to the sometimes pallid articles which appear on their plates. I'm sorry to say that I feel a great deal of the dislike children have for vegetables is because mothers don't cook them appetizingly. Vegetable "plates" in hotels, tea rooms and restaurants, can be as different as if they were not prepared of the same vegetables.

Mothers would do better to invent some method of interesting children in vegetables instead of simply reiterating that vegetables are good for them. If there is any phrase that will take the heart out of an appetite, it is that one: "It's good for you." No one wants to eat what is good for him; he wants to eat what is pleasing and appetizing to him, and any method which makes eating a treat to be enjoyed, instead of a duty to be performed, will do away with the necessity for teasing a child to eat.

The Mirror of the Mode

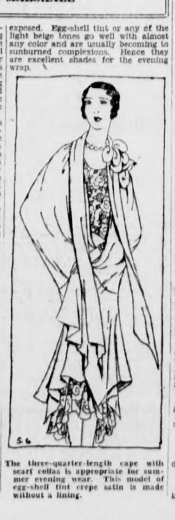
By MARY MARSHALL

Fashion demands much greater attention to the matter of evening wraps now than ever before. In the days when we still believed that all sorts of dangers lurked in night air the idea was to get just as quickly as possible from home to the place where we intended to pass the evening hours. Now we loiter on our way and in warm weather the more time we spend in the open the better we like it.

Many of the new evening dresses have special wraps, made of matching or harmonizing material. There are crisp light-weight taffeta dresses with taffeta capes that come just to the elbows. There are chiffon wraps for chiffon dresses suitable for very warm weather. And so simple are many of these new evening wraps that they do not add a prohibitive price to the dress they accompany.

Many women feel, however, that to have many evening wraps is an extravagance. If you feel that way about it then the one evening wrap you choose should be suitable to wear with any of your evening dresses. There is something to be said in favor of black for this generally useful evening wrap, but for summer time lighter tones are more appropriate.

Transparent velvet is still used—but satin crepe lends itself better to the new silhouette. The sketch shows a simple model of this material, made without a lining. Wrap, circular ruffles and attached scarf are all made with the shiny side of the material exposed. Egg-shell tint or any of the light beige tones go well with almost any color and are usually becoming to sunburned complexions. Hence they are excellent shades for the evening wrap.



The three-quarter-length cape with scarf collas is appropriate for summer evening wear. This model of egg-shell tint crepe satin is made without a lining.

The reporter had been instructed to get the views of local business men on the state of trade. His paragraph read:

"Looking up," said the astronomer.

"Dead," said the undertaker.

"Fine," said the magistrate.

"Looking better," said the beauty doctor.

"Fair," said the tram conductor.

"Hard to beat," said the drummer.

"Looking brighter," said the bootblack.

Women's Institutes To Ask For Closed Courts

Seek Gov't. Help for Canadian Farm Boys at Closing Session

That Canadian men and boys be included in the settlement plans organized by the government for British boys was the subject of one of the resolutions passed at the morning session. Members felt that many young Canadian boys who wished to farm had been obliged to leave the country because of lack of means, and should be given the same assistance as British youths. That the day after Christmas be made a public holiday to give tired trades people a chance to rest and that Good Will day be observed in the schools, was advocated. The delegates decided to petition the provincial governments to donate $300,000 of the profit of liquor sales to a fund for education for the youth along temperance lines. That Rural High school districts should be established to give the children of the rural districts an opportunity for secondary education was the opinion of the meeting. The Minister of Health was commended for the work of the travelling clinics.

Mrs. Stewart Delegate

Mrs. W. Stewart of Peace River was chosen as delegate to the biennial convention of the federated Institutes of Canada to be held in Saskatoon from June 17 to 22. Mrs. Wellington Huyck of Strome will also represent the Alberta Institutes at this convention.

Offering prizes for essays on Alberta industries and arranging Empire shopping weeks had been some of the ways in which the Institutes had encouraged home industry. Mrs. J. W. Johnston, of Edmonton, the convener of the committee on Canadian industries reported. Some institutes had given dinners of Alberta products, visited manufacturing plants and arranged meetings at which addresses on industries were given.

Harm of Segregation

Interest in legislation has been increasing during the year, Mrs. J. P. Ferguson of Trochu, convener of the legislation committee reported. Mrs. Ferguson reviewed the acts passed at the last session of the legislature and advised delegates to arrange requests for new legislation in a concise form.

The harm of the segregated foreign district was stressed in the report of the convener of immigration which had been sent by Mrs. Lynch Staunton of Lundebreck. Some institutes have helped needy cases and others have distributed magazines as a part of this work. Alberta has embarked on one of the greatest town planning experiments in the world, Mr. H. L. Seymour, provincial town planning expert, explained in his address.

Closed courts for the trial of statutory offences when young girls are giving evidence will be asked by the Alberta Women's Institutes, it was decided in convention Thursday. It was also decided by a large majority vote that since statutory offences tried in district courts have only male judges present, and that this is detrimental to the best interests of the girls giving evidence, the law be amended so that a woman judge conduct said trial, or that a change of venue be had so that the trial may take place in a court presided over by a woman judge.

Both resolutions received the sympathy of the meeting, although the opinion was expressed that closed courts carried the danger of freedom from publicity, often a great factor in controlling crime. A third measure presented by Hand Hills Constituency conference, from which the others sprang, was ruled out of order, as it was explained that provision for music and art in the rural schools is already made.

Behind the Schools

The great field of educational activity covered by the institute was outlined in the report of Mrs. W. C. Short of Edmonton, convener of education and better schools. Schools throughout the province have been made clean, bright and comfortable, drinking fountains, emergency kits, curtains, blinds, book cases, books, magazines, musical equipment, pictures, towels, playground equipment, flags, tennis courts and even barns have been supplied by the Institute members where occasion demanded. In many schools the clubs have arranged for the serving of one hot dish a day for the noonday lunch, prizes have been given, oratorical contests held, Christmas concerts arranged, sports days convened. One institute held a most successful better school week, with meetings, pageants and parades, educational films and parent and teacher discussions.

More Women on Boards

Mrs. Short drew attention to the increasing number of women on school boards, and spoke of the interest taken by many parents in visiting the schools and learning to see their children through other people's eyes. She predicted a not far distant day when all schools would be equipped with radio receiving sets, and suggested this endeavor to the Institutes for future activity.

From beautifying to community improvement, gardening, fruit growing, poultry raising, dairying and the study of various farm problems, the Women's Institutes were active along agricultural lines during the year, reported Mrs. M. A. Murphy of Cowley, provincial convener. Cemeteries and school grounds and other public places were beautified, and small parks have been made. A detailed guide for the growing of hedges, flowering shrubs, perennials, annuals and other garden information was given by the convener, who commented on the 100 per cent improvement in the appearance of farm homes throughout the province during the year.

Many flower shows were held and school fairs sponsored. In the accounts of constituency activities, literally thousands of trees were reported as planted by institute members.

New School Act

The Honorable Perren Baker told in a very enlightening manner of the new school act, and explained its methods advantages and results. He expressed the hope that members would consider it carefully, as such organizations could initiate movements not so readily started through the clumsier agency of governments. The new system, he felt, would successfully eliminate a number of the handicaps which have always been encountered in rural schools, such as short terms, lack of supervision, inexperienced teachers, lack of high schools, etc. With a central board, twenty divisional boards and a central office, along with other improvements, the minister considered that the general rate for overhead would be seven and a half mills.

Mr. Baker explained that instead of this being a "sudden brain-wave" on the part of the minister, it was the system being adopted in a large number of the most progressive countries, with Alberta lagging behind as the only remaining province with a school system of its kind in the world.

A beautiful leather travelling case and a sum of money was presented to Mrs. Wellington Huyck, who has completed a four-year term as president, by Mrs. A. T. Martin, of Vulcan. The handsome silver basket presented by Mrs. Nellie McClung, of Calgary, for competition among the members of W. I. Girls' clubs at their July convention in Edmonton, was on exhibition. A message from Mrs. L. T. Guild, of Regina, convener of the National Council of Women, was received, inviting the Women's Institute to make up a party of fifty members to join the party from the western provinces to the fruit-growing areas of British Columbia in July.

National Council to Study Sterilization In Coming Year

SASKATOON, May 31. — Several resolutions arising out of the reports of standing committee conveners were considered by the Natoinal Council of Women, in conference at the University of Saskatoon on Thursday afternoon.

Two suggestions following the report on housing and town planning were submitted by Miss Ambrose, of Hamilton, convener of that committee. Miss Ambrose recommended a provincial director of housing and town planning in all provinces and also that legislation should be secured asking towns and municipalities to have a plan within two or three years.

Delegates at Thursday's session asked that Dr. Mabel Hanington send copies of the resolution on sterilization of mental defectives to various members of her committee, requesting them to give this question serious study during the year in order that they should be prepared to give definite pronouncement on it at the next annual.

Daughters of Empire Place Wreath on Soldiers' Graves

VICTORIA, B.C., May 31.—After reading of the report of the educational work of the Order presented by Miss W. Gordon, and the adoption of her recommendations for the facilitating of this work. The National Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, adjourned on Thursday afternoon to enjoy social diversion.

The municipal chapter of Victoria acted as hostess at a tea and reception at Mollon Combe, the home of Mrs. W. Curtis Campson, provincial president.

En route to Oak Bay, a halt was made at Ross Bay cemetery, where a visit was paid to the ex-service men's plot. Mrs. J. A. Stewart, national president, placed upon the cross of secrifice, a wreath of laurel and red, white and blue blossoms. In the evening, the members of the order held a dinner, followed by a round table conference on the work of the order.

All Saints W.A. Sews For Bazaar

A number of articles for the fall bazaar were received at the meeting of All Saints W.A. in the parish hall on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. W. T. Oke, the president, being in the chair. Members sewed for the bazaar.

Lieutenant-Governor And Mrs. Egbert Are Guests at Pageant

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Egbert and Miss Ethel Egbert will be the guests of the Edmonton Boy Scouts Association at the second annual Scout pageant being held in the Arena, Exhibition Grounds, this evening. Others who have been invited as guests of the association are the premier and Mrs. J. E. Brownlee, the president of the University and Mrs. R. C. Wallace, the Mayor and Mrs. A. U. G. Bury, Lt.-Colonel Gillespie, A.D.C., the provincial commissioner of scouts and Mrs. George Malcolmson, the district commissioner, and Mrs. M. J. Hilton, Miss Edith Hilton, Archbishop O'Leary, the Bishop of Edmonton and Mrs. H. A. Gray, members of the ministerial association, Lord Rodney and Lady Rodney, provincial commissioner of girl guides, Dr. R. Proctor and Mrs. Proctor, district commissioner of girl guides, members of the girl guide executive, Mr. R. C. Marshall and Mrs. Marshall, provincial president of the I.O.D.E., Dr. W. Duncan Smith and Mrs. Smith, municipal regent of the I.O.D.E.; Chief of Police and Mrs. A. G. Shute, the superintendent of schools and Mrs. G. A. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, Colonel and Mrs. R. H. Palmer, Mr. Percy Cooper, rover commissioner, and Mrs. Cooper, Mr A. K. Southen, district secretary, and Mrs. Southen, Mr. Leslie Pilcher, chairman of the pageant committee, and Mrs. Pilcher, Mr. Guy Nevill, Miss Donalda J. Dickie and Mr. W. Solway, executive commissioner.

Patricia

Gay little club houses set in emerald greens, many of them shaded with shrubs and bordered with flowers, will be the centre of social gatherings for the season just opening at the various lawn bowling clubs of the city. On Tuesday afternoon Patricia Lawn Bowling Club will hold the opening tea of the season, to which all members are invited.

Thursday Banquet is Happy Interlude in Convention Week

With the fragrance of thousands of apple blossoms heavy on the air, and the pink and cream of their petals scattered about the long tables in Athabasca hall, the atmosphere for the banquet tendered by the university, the city and the Edmonton Women's institute, to the delegates attending the Provincial Women's Institute convention on Thursday evening was a happy and colorful one. Mrs. Wellington Huyck, retiring president, presided, and Mrs. William Stewart, of Peace River, retiring first vice-president, proposed the toast to "Our Province," eloquently and briefly, to which Magistrate Emily Murphy, first president of the Federated Institutes of Canada, replied. Mrs. Murphy told in a stirring fashion of the greatness of Alberto, her oil, coal, grain fields, the romance of the north, and brought out a number of interesting points, such as that the prairie province stood lowest of all parts of the world in the death rate. Speaking particularly of the women of Alberta, Mrs. Murphy told of their leadership in many matters, and explained that the Hon. J. F. Lymburn, attorney general, was at present on his way to the privy council to give his support to the effort being made by five Alberta women for recognition as "persons."

To Sister Societies

Mrs. Beaubier, past president and newly appointed secretary, offered the toast to sister societies, to which Mrs. E. L. Hill, president of the Local Council of Women, replied in witty vein, Miss Gladys Flint played a violin selection, accompanied by Mrs. F. B. Smith and Mr. Maurice Brown had charge of community singing, with Mrs. Jack Bartley accompanying.

Guests of Honor

Guests of honor on this occasion were His Honor the Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Egbert. The Premier and Mrs. J. E. Brownlee, the Minister of Education and Mrs. Perren Baker, the Minister of Agriculture and Health and Mrs. George Hoadley, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mrs. H. A. Craig, the Mayor and Mrs. A. U. G. Bury, Mrs. R. C. Wallace, Mrs. Arthur Murphy, Mr. Horace Seymour, Mrs. E. L. Hill, Mrs. A. H. Rogers of Fort Saskatchewan, and Mrs. A. H. Warr of Waskatenau.

FIRST APPLE BLOSSOM

Children who go to the little Pella school in the north country have never seen apple blossoms; that is why a delegate who was in town for the women's Institute convention from that district tucked away a long, fragrant spray of waxy pink and white apple blossom from the tables of the Thursday night banquet to take back to the children. What magic in a single lovely bough of apple blossom!

Getting Skinnier Every Day

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now — Quick

Tens of thousands of thin, rundown men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged — are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets are puting flesh on hosts of skinny folks in all parts of the world every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, gained 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

And this shows what faith the makers have in McCoy's for they say: if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your money will be refunded—and only 60 cents for 60 tablets—Economy Size—$1.00. Ask for them at any drug store.

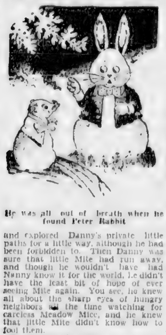
Little Stories For Bedtime

Danny Meadow Mouse Seeks Aid

By THORNTON BURGESS
(Copyright)

Danny Meadow Mouse was almost crazy. Yes, sir, Danny was almost crazy. So was Nanny Meadow Mouse. Little Mite, the smallest and smartest of their four babies, was nowhere to be found. No one knew what had become of him. They looked in every hiding-place they could think of in the pile of old corn-stalks where their home was, and they called and called. Then it was that either Teeny, Weeny, or Midget, I don't know which, told Danny how Mite had said that some day he would slip away and see the Great World, and how Mite often had slipped out from under the corn-stalks and explored Danny's private little paths for a little way, although he had been forbidden to. Then Danny was sure that little Mite had run away, and though he wouldn't have had Nanny know it for the world, he didn't have the least bit of hope of ever seeing Mite again. You see, he knew all about the sharp eyes of hungry neighbors all the time watching for careless Meadow Mice, and he knew that little Mite didn't know how to fool them.



He was all out of breath when he found Peter Rabbit

So Danny told Nanny not to worry and that he would go look for Mite and bring him home. Nanny said that she would try not to worry, but, of course, she couldn't help worrying some. In fact, she worried terribly, but she tried to hide it from Danny as he started off to look for the lost baby. Now, Danny hadn't the least idea where to look. He knew that probably little Mite had started off along one of the private little paths, but there were many, very many, private little paths, and, of course, Danny didn't have the least idea which one to take. So he ran along one, then another, and another, all the time calling in his funny little squeaky voice for Mite. Every few steps he would stop to listen for a reply. But not once did he hear a reply. The reason was that he was going in quite a different direction from the one taken by his lost baby.

"Oh, dear, if only I could be in several places at the same time!" cried Danny. And then he thought of something. Why not get help? Of course, that was the thing to do. He would run over to the Dear Old Briar Patch and ask Peter Rabbit to help hunt for little lost Mite. To think is to do with Danny Meadow Mouse, and he started right away for the Old Briar Patch. He was all out of breath when he found Peter Rabbit. Peter shook his head reprovingly.

"Don't you know that you ought not to run so on a hot day?" asked he.

"Yes," panted Danny, "but I just had to. Oh, Peter, will you help me find my little Mite?"

Peter looked at Danny very hard. "What's that?" said he, putting a hand behind an ear, as if to make sure of hearing better.

"Please, please don't waste any time, Peter, but hurry and help me find my lost baby!" begged Danny.

Peter looked more puzzled than ever. "Your little Mite! Your baby! What under the sun are you talking about, Danny Meadow Mouse? Are you crazy," he demanded.

Then for the first time Danny remembered that Peter knew nothing about Nanny or the family or four beautiful babies—Teeny, Weeny, Midget, and Mite. He had kept his secret so well that no one knew anything about it. Now the secret was out, for Peter wouldn't be able to keep it to save him, no matter how hard he might try. Danny sighed. Then he told Peter all about it. Peter listened with eyes wide open with surprise. When Danny reached the part about little Mite and how he had run away, Peter patted him gently on the shoulder.

"Don't you worry, Danny," said he. "We'll find him all right. I know all about it. You remember how last year my little Pete was lost. But he came out safe and sound, and so will Mite. Now, I'm going to start right away to look for him. You go back and look among your private little paths and I'll hurry around outside. If he has come outside some one will be sure to have seen him."

With that off started Peter, lipperty-lipperty-lip, to help look for little Mite Meadow Mouse.

What's What

By HELEN DECIE

Unless there are children in a family, it is not customary for week-end guests to bring gifts with them. That sort of thing looks too much like paying for entertainment. Hospitality is repaid by hospitality. A guest who understands social obligations knows that he or she should make a return in kind at some future date. If it is not possible to have a house party, another form of diversion may be arranged—a matinee, for instance; a motor party or a hotel dinner or luncheon.

Servants may be tipped by the house guests on the morning of departure. If there is a chauffeur his tip is given when the car arrives at the station to meet the guest's homeward train. But absolutely no gifts should be presented to adults in the host family. Of course, this rule does not apply to relatives, nor to very intimate friends.

Where there is no paid help the host or hostess meets the guest at the station and carries the suitcase to the guest room, where the visitor may remain until summoned for dinner.

Woman Ordained In South Africa

Mrs. Rocliffe Mackintosh has been ordained to the ministry of the Congregational Church in South Africa. She has been called to Central Church, Johannesburg. Before her marriage she was prominent in the Temperance Alliance as Miss E. W. Sutherland. She is a Master of Arts of Glasgow University, and the first woman in that part of the Church to be admitted into the ministry.

SUMMER CARE

Draperies and rugs should be carefully cleaned now and put away until autumn. Slip covers for furniture can be made inexpensively. Patterns nowadays fit practically all kinds of chairs and davenports.

LAP BOARD

When there is an invalid or even a semi-invalid in the home, a lap board, made to fit a chair with arms is a great convenience.

DOROTHY DIX

The Fact That Your Family Constitutes Your Nearest and Dearest Should be Special Reason For Letting Them Live Their Lives in Peace Instead of Trying to Run Everything for Them

Here are 10 commandments that, faithfully followed, will assure you a happy and a peaceful home.

FIRST, THOU SHALT NOT NAG.

There is hardly any criticism or suggestion that you cannot make once to your wife or your husband or your children without giving offense. It is the constant reiteration of the same thing over and over and over again, the continual harping on the same little fault, the never-ending "do this"—"don't do that," the bringing up of the same disagreeable topic for the millionth time that wears away their patience as the incessant dropping of water wears away a stone. Say what you have to say once and forever after hold your peace on the subject.

SECOND, THOU SHALT NOT PRY INTO THE PERSONAL AFFAIRS OF ANY FAMILY.

Never forget that your husband or your wife and the children have the same passionate desire for a little personal liberty that you have and that they resent just as bitterly as you do having some one snooping around, some one listening in on the telephone when they talk, opening their letters and reading them first, going through the pockets of their clothes and keeping tab on their every movement, so that they can't go around to the corner drug store without furnishing an alibi for every minute of the time they are out from under surveillance.

Cut out the questionnaire about where you have been and where you are going and whom did you see and what did they say and what did you say and why did you say it, etc. Don't put every member of the family through the third degree every time they move. It gets you no where, anyway, because your victim will tell you what he or she wants you to know anyway and lie about the balance. Family prying drives more young people away from home than all other causes combined.

THIRD, THOU SHALT NOT GIVE UNSOLICITED ADVICE.

Be not one of those family pests who never can see anybody doing anything without bobbing up with a lot of suggestions. Be not one of those back-seat-driver wives who tells her husband when to slow and when to put on speed and to watch out for a truck and who always picks out his neckties for him and tells him what sort of suit to get. Neither be one of those husbands who censors his wife's clothes and her haircut and her rouge pot and who wants to know why she doesn't dress as they did in the Theodore Roosevelt administration. Neither be those parents who think that their children never get over being three years old and feebleminded at that and that they have to be told as long as they live where to get on and where to get off.

Undoubtedly you are an oracle and wisdom will perish with you, but for all that grown-up people feel that they have a right to run their own lives in their own way without being snowed under with advice from mother and father.

FOURTH, THOU SHALT NOT ARGUE.

No man and women of even average intelligence can be married for two months without finding out their points of disagreement and that there are certain topics which it is like waving a red flag at a mad bull even to mention. Having ascertained what are the pet prejudices of the partner of your bosom, skirt as warily around them as you would around the brink of a dangerous precipice.

If husband says the moon is made of green cheese, don't dispute it and bring on a fight by displaying your superior scientific knowledge. If wife says something happened at four o'clock that you know happened at six, let the statement go unquestioned. Nobody is ever convinced by an argument. Its only effect is to settle them more deeply in their conviction and to bring on a family row that disrupts the peace of the home and leaves everybody sore and bitter.

FIFTH, THOU SHALT NOT TELL HOME TRUTH.

Do not think because you love your family it gives you a right to say to them things that their deadliest enemy would not dream of saying. You think they forgive you because of the relationship in which you stand to them, but it is precisely because our near relations know our weaknesses so well that they can always stab us in a vulnerable spot and so deal a wound that rankles and never heals.

Besides, there is no one for whose good opinion we care so much as we do for that of our own and no one can hurt us as they can. Therefore, if you are a husband, never tell your wife that she is getting old and fat and frumpy and that she looks like a figure of fun in flapper clothes or that she resembles a saleratus biscuit with that jade hat on.

And if you are a wife, bite your tongue off before you tell your husband that you consider him a false alarm as a business man and that he is the worst guesser at the stock market you ever saw or that he bores people stiff talking about his radio and how he tuned in on Havana and Squedunk.

And if you are parents, don't keep your children's deficiencies always before them and keep reminding little Johnny that he is awkward and dumb and little Mary that she is stupid and little Sally that she is homely and little Bobby that he is naughty.

You will hurt them and mortify them and make them self-conscious and self-deprecating and intensify the very faults of which you complain. Many a man and woman are failures in life just because their parents gave them an inferiority complex by telling them home truths when they were children.

Therefore, if you want your home to be happy, use as much tact and diplomacy in what you say to your wives and husbands and children as you would if you were negotiating a foreign treaty.

BEAUTY QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Shiny, Blemished Nose

Dear Miss Leeds—(1) What will take away the spots at each side of my nose? They become noticeable whenever I use powder. My nose is shiny. (2) What will make eyelashes dark and curly? (3) My hair is oily and full of dandruff. What will make it soft and fluffy? E. M. F.

Answer—(1) You do not describe the condition of the skin very accurately but I judge that you refer to enlarged pores and perhaps a rough, scaly effect. In addition to the local treatments that I shall suggest, you should be careful of your diet, eat plenty of green vegetables and fruits, avoid constipation, exercise daily outdoors and see that your weight is correct for age, height and type of build. At bedtime remove your make-up with cleansing cream and then wash your face with pure, mild soap and plenty of warm water. Rub the lather carefully into the wings of your nose where the enlarged pores are seen. Rinse thoroughly in clean warm water, then rinse in cold water. Dry well. Pat on a skin lotion made of equal parts of rosewater, glycerine and witch-hazel and allow this to remain on overnight. Next morning rinse your face first in warm water then in cold, dry the skin well and rub in the skin lotion before powdering.

(2) If your lashes happen to be naturally light and straight I doubt that you can ever acquire long, dark curly ones, but you can encourage the growth of the hairs and slightly darken them by applying white vaseline every night for six months or more. Use a small eyebrow brush with a single row of bristles and brush the lashes upward to encourage the curl. Of course, if you wish, you may use mascara to darken the hairs and use a patent eyelash curler that is now being sold. I do not advise the regular use of preparations for darkening the hairs, such as mascara. I think a natural, well-groomed pair of lashes is prettier than painted ones.

(3) Wash your hair with pure castile soap liquid once a week. Lather and rinse the hair four to six separate times before the final rinse. Thorough shampooing will make the hair soft and fluffy. You may also use an astringent scalp tonic or antiseptic scalp lotion three times a week. Before the shampoo loosen the dandruff with a fine comb and brush it out.

Thinning Hair

Dear Miss Leeds—Every morning when I get up I massage my scalp and brush and vigorously pull my hair to stimulate the circulation. I lose a quantity of hair every day in following this procedure. I have been practicing this all winter and my wife thinks that my hair is becoming thinner. I am 50 years old. Will not the hairs grow in again just as they grow on the face or body after having been plucked out? W. J. H.

Answer—The principle of stimulating the scalp by massage, brushing and pulling the hair is a sound one, but in applying general principles it is necessary to adapt them to individual needs. It seems to me that the methods you are using are proving themselves too drastic in your particular case. If you have inherited the tendency toward thin hair and possible baldness, I do not think you can ever grow a luxuriant head of hair, but the right local care and attention to general health will help you keep your hair longer than you would otherwise. There may be an inherited weakness in the hair follicles that would prevent their producing strong hairs after a certain age. The case is, I think, somewhat like that of the teeth. The soundness of the teeth are determined, to a large extent, by heredity, nutrition in the pre-natal period and diet in early life. If you happen to have soft teeth that easily decay, what you do for them now will not make them become strong and hard. Of course there is a great difference between the structure and growth of teeth and hair, but my point is that in neither case can local treatments overcome entirely the effect of natural constitution or heredity. I would suggest your continuing the scalp massage and brushing with less vigor. Rub a little castor oil on your scalp every day. Give it an oil treatment before your shampoo. Cultivate good general health.

COLOR LAUNDERING

In washing one of the new white silk blouses, piped or decorated with colored silk, use cold water and a good soap, rinse thoroughly and hang over a bath towel on a hanger. When thoroughly dry, dampen and roll in a towel. This careful treatment keeps the color from crocking.

CAT GREENS

If you cannot get grass for your pet house cat, plant some oats in a flower pot and let the cat nibble as soon as the blades grow a few inches. Grass, catnip or some other green is essential to a cat's health and happiness.

FRUIT PIES

Fresh fruit pies are a treat. Bake the pie crust over the outside of the tin. Fill, while crisp and fresh, with fresh strawberries or other fruit, top by whipped cream and serve.

To Delay Final Sale of Alberta Lines One Month

PAYMENT OF $5,000,000 IS WITHHELD

Premier Says Action Means Little in Large Deal

Pending the final closing out of the transaction by which the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia; Alberta and Great Waterways, Central Canada, and Pembina Valley Railways pass from the ownership of the province of Alberta into the joint hands of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian National Railways, which originally was scheduled to take place on June 1, but which has been postponed for one month on account of the delay in giving third reading to the enabling legislation by the Senate at Ottawa, the department of railways will continue to operate the lines, according to an announcement made on Friday by Premier J. E. Brownlee.

Means Little

As a result of this retardation in the transfer, the payment of the first $5,000,000 on the total of $25,000,000 purchase price in addition to the approximate $1,000,000 on the two extensions, will be likewise delayed for one month. The province, however, will reap any profits on the operation of the lines for the extra month, and should there be a deficit, it will bear the responsibility of it.

The Premier expressed the opinion that in round figures the delay of a month would not mean more than about $1,000 one way or the other, which was of small consequence in a $25,000,000 deal.

The only real difficulty in the government's viewpoint in the delay is that the provincial treasury was counting on the $5,000,000 first payment to carry on with financing, and it may be necessary to make some arrangements with the banks to tide over the province for one month until the payment by the two transcontinentals is made. Even this contingency may not arise, and even though it does, it will be for only one month.

Asked for his views on the delay, which was made at the request of George Walker, Canadian Pacific Railway solicitor, the Premier said:

"A despatch from Ottawa states that the legislation before the Dominion House was only given third reading by the Senate Wednesday, and it is still necessary to get the asesnt of His Excellency the Governor General before the new northern railway holding company is incorporated. Under the circumstances it was considered impossible to complete the necessary formalities for the transfer before the 10th of 15th of June at the earliest.

From the standpoint of accounting both of the provincial railway department and the Transcontinental railways it is much more convenient to make the cut-off at the end of the month rather than the middle, and it was therefore agreed this morning between the provincial government and the representatives of the railways that the transfer would be made as of the 30th of June rather than the end of May."

The Premier further stated that everything was in readiness for the transfer as soon as the new railway company could take over the roads, and no difficulty had arisen or was anticipated.

52 Exhibitions To Be Held In Alberta

Fifty-two exhibitions will be held in rural Alberta points during the current summer, according to a declaration made on Friday by Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture and health. This is approximately the same number as in the last two years.

S. G. Carlyle, superintendent of fairs will again keep a watchful eye on the exhibitions, which are expected to be on a larger scale and of greater interest than ever before.

The first of the rural fairs will open at Oyen on July 25 and 26 and the last will be at Priddis and Millarville on Sept. 18.

Slayer Of Wife Buried In City

With about 25 persons attending, the funeral of Martin Holowski, slayer of his wife at Waskatenau, Alta., Tuesday, and who took his own life with a .30-.30 rifle later in the day, was held from Andrews Brothers' undertaking parlors Friday morning.

Burial was made at the Roman Catholic Edmonton cemetery. Rev. Father Hughes officiated.

Suburban Snobbery Angers Postmaster

Canadian Press

LONDON, Eng., May 31—Colonel W. G. Todd, postmaster of Stoke-on-Trent, utters a protest at what he describes as the "suburban snobbery" of residents who insist on giving their houses fancy names, and ignoring the ordinary street numbering. The practice, he declares, leads to a considerable amount of additional labor being thrown upon the postal service.

"The occupants of 'villadom'" says Col. Todd, "dearly love a light-sounding or fantastic name. 'Sea View,' or 'Rosemount' sound so much better than 'No. 27.' Appropriateness plays no part in the average nomenclature, and 'Sea View' may overlook a gas works and the only indications of flowers surrounding 'Rosemount' may be an anaemic aspidistra in the window."

G. R. F. Kirkpatrick, manager of the Imperial Bank, returned on Friday from a trip through Europe. During the tour Mr. Kirkpatrick, who was accompanied by his family, travelled over 25,000 miles, and visited all the points of interest in Palestine, Egypt, Italy, France and Great Britain.

Under the auspices of the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society one British family arrived in Edmonton for placement under the cottage scheme, and has been located at Millet. After a year's training in Canadian farming methods, this family will be placed on a farm in the Clan Donald district.

A liquor plebiscite will take place in the village of Irma on Wednesday, June 12. Charles Wilbraham has been nominated as returning officer. On June 15 a similar plebiscite will take place at the village of Carseland. G. C. Melendy has been appointed returning officer.

Horace L. Seymour, provincial town planning director, will address a special meeting of the city council Friday at 4:30 p.m. Mr. Seymour will outline the new town planning act and deal with the city's problems of town planning and zoning.

Bank clearings for the month of May this year show a slight increase over the same month, 1928, the figures being: 1929, $30,855,894.50; 1928, $30,640,108.95.

KNOWLEDGE IS BROADCAST BY NEW FEATURES

Annual Report Made Available, Tells of Great Work

During the academic year ending March 31 last, the department of extension, University of Alberta sponsored 338 lectures, exclusive of radio lectures, according to the annual report of this department made available on Friday.

The aggregate attendance at these lectures was 37,273, an average attendance of 110.

The corresponding figures for the previous year were 334 lectures with an aggregate attendance of 38,353.

Of the lectures recorded, 107 were given by the director, Edward Annand Corbett, 90 by Mr. Backman, 49 by Prof. Ottewell and 93 by members of the university and department of extension staffs.

Two series of lectures were given in the Y.W.C.A. following courses in contemporary British writers and history of previous years. In all 11 lectures were given.

Radio Work

The department's radio work has been greatly increased with a total of 296 lectures given. The department had been on the air regularly on Monday and Thursday evenings. The Monday programs have been along literary lines, including talks on authors, poetry, music and travel. The children's programs had been greatly appreciated.

During the year, the department published five Press Bulletins with an average circulation of 3700. In some cases additional copies up to 500 in number had been circulated. During the year a total of 9752 bulletins were sent out and since this feature was instituted 69,246 copies have been distributed.

There were 18 registrations in the correspondence course in "Economics in Agriculture." A total of 115 papers were corrected in this course. Registration for the university week for young people totalled 171.

In the year 208 exchanges were made in 203 communities as against 200 exchanges in 196 communities in 1927-28 in regard to travelling libraries. In addition 49 special libraries were sent out as against 40 the previous year. The total number of libraries circulated was 237. The recorded circulation of 125 regular libraries was 8818, which makes the average circulation of each library 70.

The open shelf circulation of books, pamphlets and plays was 23,188 for books and 741 for pamphlets and with all others added a grand total of 33,488.

Much excellent work was done in visual instruction. A total of 1794 lantern slides were cent out. These were shown 1942 times to more than 200,113 persons. This was an increase of 50 sets over the previous year. In all, 405 sets of motion picture films were sent out, shown 533 times to 61,532 persons. This was an increase of 93 sets over the previous year. A total of 263 lanterns were loaned for special occasions.

Election Sidelights

The government dropped East Nottingham to the Liberals, Norman Birkett, K.C., heading the polls against Conservative and Labor opponents.

Miss G. M. Coleman, the Labor candidate in Hythe where Sir Phillip Sassoon retained his seat, forfeited her deposit.

The postmaster-general in the Baldwin cabinet, Sir William Mitchell-Thomson, and his assistant, Lord Wolmer, were both re-elected to parliament in yesterday's election.

Premier Stanley Baldwin was reelected in his home constituency of Bewdley, Worcestershire, with a plurality of 14,018 votes.

David Lloyd George, Liberal leader and war time premier, was re-elected to the house of commons for his home constituency of Carnarvon, Wales.

Miss Megan Wins

Miss Megan Lloyd George, daughter of the Liberal leader, was elected in Anglesey, Wales, over Conservative and Labor opponents.

A. Duff Cooper, financial secretary to the war office, was defeated in Oldham, one of whose two seats he represented in the last parliament.

Sir John Marriott, Conservative, defeated in York by F. C. Burgess, Labor, accompanied the empire parliamentarians on their tour of Canada last year.

Right Hon. Walter Guinness, minister of agriculture, and Major Right Hon. W. G. A. Ormisby-Gore, undersecretary for the colonies, were declared elected this morning.

Mr. Guinness was running in Bury St. Edmunds and Mr. Ormsby-Gore in Stafford where his majority was a little more than half that obtained in the last election. So far eight ministers have been elected and two defeated.

Sir Robert Horne, former chancellor of the exchequer, was elected as Conservative member for Hillhead division with a majority of 7,330 over his Labor opponent, W. S. Comack.

Husband Leaves Pair Trousers To His Wife

Canadian Press

LONDON, Eng., May 31—The will has just been proved of a man living in a southwest suburb of London who died last November in which he left to his wife "one pair of my trousers, free of duty, and carriage paid, as a symbol of what she wanted to wear in my lifetime but did not." All his other property he left between his two sisters and his son.

Gibing wills of this nature are not so uncommon as might be imagined. The remarks are generally directed at the opposite sex, and proportionately women make more of these than men, but are generally somewhat more subtle. One woman directed that her relatives should have "nothing save a bag of sand to rub themselves with—none deserve even a goodbye." While one man, after complaining that his wife had called him an old pig, amongst other terms, left to her the sum of one farthing, to be sent to her by post in an unstamped envelope. This involved her, at the then postal rates, in a charge of 2d. for excess postage and a special registration fee of 8d. because the letter contained coin and was not sent by registered post.

Chief Recommends Escape Ladders At All Rooming Houses

Rooming houses in the city, especially large dwellings which have been converted into suites and rooms for hire, will be compelled to provide at least two rope ladders on the premises if a recommendation of Fire Chief Dutton is passed by the city council.

The fire chief reported to Commissioner David Mitchell Friday that one of these rope ladders has been installed at the boys' hostel, 9729 106th street, and an inspection of this ladder will be made by the commissioners.

The rope ladders recommended by Chief Dutton are provided with studs to keep them away from the wall when a person is descending, and strong hooks by which they can be attached to window sills or other immovable objects. The cost is $1.50 per foot.

Boys' Graft Neat, But They Try It Once Too Often

An ingenious system of getting cash by stealing parcels from motor cars and returning them to stores and getting the purchase price back, and which was put into operation by three 11-year-old boys, was ended Thursday when the police took the lads into custody on charges of theft.

According to investigating officers, the boys would wait around entrances to big departmental stores and when shoppers came out with an armful of parcels, placed them in their cars, and went back to get more purchases, would take the parcels and take them to the refund counter.

"Please, mother says she doesn't want this now," would be the usual statement of the boys. They would get the purchase price back and decamp.

WM. PLOWMAN DIES FRIDAY

Popular Former Steward at Canadian Legion Passes Away

William Plowman, for many years steward at the Memorial hall, died at a local hospital late Friday morning after an illness of six weeks.

A full military funeral will be accorded him on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the cortege will proceed from the Memorial hall to the Edmonton cemetery, where the Jasper Lodge, A. F. and A. M., will conduct the services at the graveside.

Mr. Plowman is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. I. Plowman; three sisters, Mrs. W. Charles of London, Eng.; Mrs. W. A. Frost and Mrs A. Farmilo of Edmonton; two brothers, Charles Plowman of London, Eng., and Percy Plowman of Edmonton.

Conspiracy Charge Dismissed In Court

Chief Justice W. C. Simmons, sitting in the criminal court on Friday dismissed the dual charges of conspiracy and cheating at cards brought by the crown against Jack Fray, Joe Error and John Smith.

His Lordship, while finding them not guilty, read them a severe lecture. He frankly told Smith he did not believe his testimony. All three were young men. This was a young man's country where opportunity beckoned and openings occurred for ambitious young men which could be developed into something well worth while. There was no reason for young men being involved in such charges as these.

Edward B. Cogswell, K.C., conducted the prosecution and J. W. Heffernan, K.C., defended.

Plaintiffs Win In Suit For Damages

Arising out of an accident on the St. Albert trail, Mr. Justice Tweedie on Friday completed the hearing of the action for $3,250 brought by Albert St. Laurence and others against Sydney Charles Yeomans.

Judgment was given to the plaintiff, Marie St. Lourence, for $250 and costs; to the plaintiff Joseph St Laurence for $180, and the judgment with respect to Albert St. Laurence was dismissed without costs.

Abe W. Miller appeared for plaintiffs and A. Bisset defended.

Stolen Thursday night, a car owned by E. W. Bowness, Westminster apartments, has not been recovered, according to city police reports. It is a 1927 McLaughlin sedan with license number 23 and painted blue.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Edmonton Military Institute will be held at the Hudsonat at 12:15 p.m. on Friday. All members and prospective members will be welcome.

PLAN PAGEANT FOR BIG FAIR

800 Performers Needed—Rehearsals About to Commence

Rehearsals for this year's pageant, "Arabian Nights," at the 50th anniversary exhibition, July 15-20 are about to commence, and a general invitation is issued by the Edmonton Exhibition Association for 800 performers. Little difficulty is anticipated in securing the rather large number necessary for the staging of this elaborate pageant, for many of the younger generation have been looking forward to and eagerly anticipating the call for help. Miss Evelyn Parks is again carrying out the duties of pageant talent superintendent, and will record the names of volunteers. The Exhibition uptown office will be opened on Saturday, June 1st, as a pageant office, and will be located at the offices of the Big Four Company, 10037 Jasper Avenue.

John Hall, the popular director of last year's pageant, will reach the city on June 5, to take charge of the training of the performers participating in the drills, dances and special roles. The Exhibition Association will supply all the costumes, and already many of the parents of the city have made known to the officials how anxious they are for their children to secure the benefit of the training, in addition to their desire to assist the Association in its efforts to obtain the very best in the way of performance and effect.

In an action filed in the supreme court on Friday, Ewdokya Orchuk has brought suit against Nickolai Orchuk for damages of $700 and an injunction restraining defendant from entering a specified quarter section of land and remaining thereon and from obstructing and molesting her.

OIL LEASES ACQUIRED BY CAMERON CO.

J. W. Heffernan, President, Reports Activity in Two Fields

Acquisition of 80 acres of [illegible] in addition to the 280 acres already secured by the Cameron Petroleum, Ltd. is announced by J. W. Heffernan, president of the company, on his return from Calgary, where he has spent the last few days.

The new land is in the Jumping Pound area, and, according to Mr. Heffernan gives great promise for the future. Mr. Heffernan has also secured surface rights for entering Black Diamond field where the first well will be drilled. A contract has been let for digging the cellar of this well and as soon as lumber can be delivered construction of a 110-foot derrick will commence.

Three wells are being drilled in the Jumping Pound district and good prorgress is reporaed. Mr. Herron, well known Alberta oil man, who has been active with Mr. Heffernan during the past week, and who is a director of the Cameron Petroleum, Ltd., thinks very highly of the prospects of this company and says he looks for it to become very prominent in Alberta.

Edmonton Man Is Found Dead in Bed

Retiring at the usual time Thursday night, Charles Jones, residing with his brother-in-law at 111 avenue and 136 street, the old Westmount Park, was found dead in bed at 6:30 a.m. Friday.

The discovery was made by Frank Bride, the brother-in-law, and Coroner Dr. E. A. Braithwaite is investigating along with Coroner's Detective W. McDonald. It is believed that heart failure was the cause of death.

Onoway Woman Takes Own Life

Throwing herself into a creek near her home while temporarily deranged, Mrs. Josephine Nelligan, 27, committeed suicide at Onoway, Alta., Thursday afternoon, according to word reaching "A" division headquarters of the Alberta Provincial Police. No inquest will be held.

Mr. Justice Tweedie, sitting in the supreme court on Friday, commenced the hearing of the marital action brought by Minnie Rebus against her husband, John Rebus, for alimony, custody of the nine children of the marriage, and divorce. J. N. McDonald is acting for plaintiff, and Neil D. Maclean, K.C., for defendant.

JOTS FROM HISTORY

JOSEPHINE, wife of Napoleon Bonaparte, was one of the most pathetic figures of French history. She was married to a viscount when she was but 17 years old, and two children were born to them. During the Reign of Terror, her husband was killed. Later when Napoleon ruled Paris, Eugene, Josephine's son, appeared before the "Little Corporal" and begged for his father's sword. This led to the meeting of Napoleon and Josephine. In the course of time they were married and were very happy together. But when Napoleon saw there would be no heir to the throne he divorced her and married Marie Louise. Until her death in 1814, she lived in seclusion near Paris.

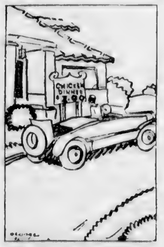
Parking With Peggy

"The bride's complaint is that all she cooks is food for argument."

Gabby Gertie

HAD A FALLING OUT
He: Why don't you go on trips with your aviator friend any more?
She: We had a falling out.

Rolls Rosie



I don't know why people kick so much about the "road beds." You can't expect all the comforts of home in a roadhouse.

Smiles

He: How can I square myself for trying to kiss you last night?
She: By actually kissing me now.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

NAN CARROLL is private secretary to ATTORNEY JOHN CURTIS MORGAN and happy over prospects of passing her bar examinations in June. On account of her brilliant mind Nan is a great help to Morgan and he depends on her.

IRIS MORGAN, the lawyer's beautiful though selfish wife, comes into the office often, treating Nan with the insolence she would accord a servant. When WILLIS TODD, an ardent suitor, proposes marriage for the fifth time to Nan, she refuses, saying she cannot give up her position with Morgan. Jealous, Willis accuses her of being in love with Morgan and Nan is forced to admit the truth of this to herself.

Being honorable and straight, Nan despises herself for being in love with another woman's husband and determines to resign the next morning. In the morning's mail she finds a blackmail note addressed to the lawyer. In a postscript a nasty insinuation is made about Iris Morgan. Nan cannot bear to hurt him with the note, and so tucks it in her bag when he comes in.

Nan discovers a clew which enables her to win a big case for Morgan. As they start to leave the courthouse, BERT CRAWFORD, handsome friend of Iris Morgan, comes up and asks to drive them to the office in his car. Nan, for some unaccountable reason, dislikes Crawford. Morgan invites the two of them to his house for a dinner in celebration of the day's triumph.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

"If I'd had the nerve to resign, I could have missed this agony," Nan told herself angrily as she sat stiff and silent in Iris Morgan's charming living room, watching two men pay court to Iris' beauty. "But how could I resign today, when he was heaping appreciation and rewards upon me. Ten dollars a week raise— I could have done so much with $10 a week. But I must give him my written resignation tomorrow, tell him some plausible lie, hurt him as little as possible—"

If it weren't such bad taste she could tell him now, for he seemed curiously alien to her, here in his home, or rather in Iris' home, for the place seemed wholly hers somehow.

Nan had never been in the Morgan home before. It had obviously never occurred to Iris to elevate her husband's secretary to the status of a friend of the family, and likewise it had never occurred to Nan to resent the fact that she had not been invited to her employer's home. Now that she found herself there she was tasting to the full the horror of the realization that had come upon her the night before.

Punishment for loving another woman's husband had descended upon her swiftly and surely. For an entire evening she would have to be the unwilling guest of an unwilling hostess, and that hostess the wife of the man she loved. Heaven knew it was hard enough to go on seeing John Curtis Morgan in his office. There he was not a husband but a man, and a great man. In his home he was all lover and husband, so completely possessed by Iris that Nan's tortured eyes roved desperately around the room to escape the picture he made, bending eagerly toward Iris, adoring her, so pathetically grateful for her careless smiles, her lightly flung endearments.

"Nan's overwhelmed by your portrait, Iris," Bert Crawford sang out in his slightly too loud, too jovial tones. "Isn't it a corker, Nan? Benet's masterpiece—Benet, the famous portrait painter, you know."

* * *

Nan realized then that her agony-blinded eyes had indeed been fixed upon the life-size portrait in oils that was hung above the fireplace, dominating the room. The artist had immortalized Iris' flamboyant beauty with a subtle brush, for the close observer could read cruelty, selfishness and vanity in the exquisite face.

Nan knew now the source of the pose which Iris nearly always struck when she took a seat, for the artist had chosen it as the one best calculated to show off every point of her beauty. A tall, slim, languid body clothed in shimmering turquoise velvet, relaxed in a throne-like chair, the lovely face in three-quarter profile.

"It's very beautiful, almost as beautiful as Mrs. Morgan herself," Nan forced herself to say graciously.

"Thanks, Nan. She's a dear little flatterer, isn't she, Jack?" Iris acknowledged the compliment carelessly, but her eyes remained upon the portrait, worshipping her own beauty. "It was hung in a Paris salon, you know. My poor husband had to pay a fearful lot of money to get it. You see, the artist saw me and begged me to pose for him, and poor Jack somehow got it into his stupid head that I'd flirted with the jolly little Frenchman. I think he would have stolen the picture if he hadn't been able to buy it."

"I said that the jolly little Frenchman was in love with you, and he was," Morgan corrected her, every word like a caress. "I didn't blame him. Who could help being in love with you, darling? But I wasn't going to have anyone else buying my wife's portrait."

Bert Crawford's laugh rang out. "I'm glad you're so broad-minded, old man! It gives me a wonderful chance to confess that I'm mad about Iris too. As you say, who could help being in love with her?"

"This morning it was Nan you were mad about," Morgan laughed comfortably. "Some woman's going to take you seriously one of these days, and then you'll come whimpering to me to get you out of a breach-of-promise suit."

"Oh, so you've been unfaithful to me, you bad boy!" Iris Morgan chided Crawford lightly, but Nan, watching closely, saw a glint of malice and anger and something strangely like warning in those odd blue-green eyes. "You mustn't let him raise your hopes too high, Nan. He's a gay philanderer, as Jack says. But there's Estelle, with the good news that dinner is served."

Iris, linking her arm with Crawford's, led the way into the dining-room, her red-gold head bent toward his in a low-voiced confidence. Nan followed with Morgan, who twinkled at her fondly:

"You mustn't mind Iris' teasin' you, Nan. The three of us always carry on like that and don't mean a thing by it. She's as full of spirits as a carefree child," he added admiringly.

When they were seated and the soup served, Iris flashed her brilliant eyes at her husband and suggested archly: "Now, Jack, do tell us all about this scandalous Grace Cox case the papers are so full of. I haven't had time to read them, but I knew I'd have to listen to the story all over again from the hero. You were a hero weren't you, Jack? I seem to gather that idea from your strut this evening."

Morgan's gaunt, sensitive face flushed darkly. "I didn't realize I was strutting, darling. I simply secured a dismissal of the indictment against my client; didn't even go to the jury."

"How you must have hated that!" Iris laughed a mocking tinkle. "He does love to rant before a jury. But I suppose all lawyers have exhibition complexes, or they wouldn't be lawyers. Does he practise his appeals to the jury before you, Nan?"

Nan's face was as full of distressed color as her employer's. "We're both so busy he doesn't have time," she answered curtly.

"I owe this case to Nan, by the way," Morgan cut in, trying to look as if his wife had not hurt him deeply. "It was she who discovered my star witness for me and hauled her to court this morning."

"Very dramatic!" Iris tinkled, but the music had a hollow ring to it. "I hope you don't have to split the fee with her, for I warn you, husband of mine, that I spent a small fortune on clothes yesterday and today. But the loveliest things! Gorgeous enough for a trousseau. I'll have to run away with one of my important admirers in order to get the full benefit of them." And the blue-green eyes laughed a challenge at Bert Crawford.

That was the extent of the celebration of John Curtis Morgan's sensational triumph in the Grace Cox case. Nan, watching the beloved face of her employer closely, could have wept for him, but she could have shaken him, too, for being so fatuously content with the crumbs that Iris tossed him. How could a big man like Morgan be so blind?

* * *

Iris gaily took the conversation into bypaths more congenial to herself. Nan would have enjoyed, as much as she could enjoy anything at Iris Morgan's table, hearing a discussion of new books, plays and politics. She could have taken a modest but intelligent part in such a discussion, for among her own friends she was rather noted for her crisp, keen comments, her joyous sense of humor, but such conversation was, apparently, not one of Iris' talents.

Personalities were shuttled briskly between Iris and Bert Crawford—choice tidbits of scandal, caustic comments on the dress, manners and affairs of their absent friends. Through it all, John Curtis Morgan ate absent-mindedly of the rather haphazard meal that his wife had provided, or rather, that her cook had deemed good enough for a small, informal party.

After the clear soup there were lamb chops, a tiny, hard-fried one for each plate; big stalks of expensive California asparagus, but not quite enough of them to make a decent serving, salad of lettuce and pineapple, with balls of cream cheese; apricot whip in tall, thin glasses; demi-tasse.

For herself, Nan was fiercely glad that the food was meagre and not too good; it made her eating of it less a crime somehow, for it was shameful to break bread with a woman whom she hated and whose husband she loved. But for John Curtis Morgan Nan felt a hot surge of [illegible] pain.

"She's [illegible] ling," she [illegible] a cook $80 [illegible] give him [illegible] Of course she [illegible] tial meals [illegible] a pound to [illegible] I'm sure she calls it 'some,'" she [illegible] ed maliciously. "Then, 'Oh, I'm [illegible] coming unspeakably cattish! I'll have to get out of all this."

As if Iris had read Nan's thoughts the lovely, careless voice flung a sort of apology to Morgan: "I'm sorry there are not two chops for you, Jack. I'd already done my ordering before I knew we were to have Nan with us this evening. The greedy pig likes two chops," she explained to Nan. "I don't understand how men can eat so much. Bert's on a diet, thank heaven, so I don't have to plan to stuff him when he comes to dinner. Not that he weighs an ounce too much," she added, reaching across the corner of the table to lay an affectionate hand on Crawford's.

* * *

After dinner Crawford made for the radio like a homing pigeon. When the syncopated blare of a jazz orchestra came flooding into the room, he snapped his fingers to the rhythm for a joyous minute, then held out his arms for his hostess.

"Shall we dance, Nan?" Morgan bent awkwardly over her, his eyes smiling and fond.

"No, please, I'd rather not!" Nan gasped. "Let's just watch them. Aren't they a perfect pair?" she babbled, to hide her confusion. She could not tell him that she did not dare add the agony of his arms about her to the agonies she had already suffered during the last 24 hours.

Bert and Iris were still dancing half an hour later, sublimely oblivious of Morgan's wistfully following eyes, when the maid, Estelle, appeared in the living room door, her eyes big with fright.

"Please, Mr. Morgan, there's a gentleman and a policeman at the door. They want to see you and Mr. Crawford both."

Before Morgan could answer, "the gentleman and the policeman" loomed behind the maid.

"Sorry to interrupt a party, Mr. Morgan, but I have a warrant for the arrest of Herbert S. Crawford."

"So you've been unfaithful to me, you bad boy!" Iris Morgan chided Crawford lightly, but Nan saw a hint of malice and anger in those blue-green eyes.

Sedgewick Children Do Well At Festival

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

SEDGEWICK, May 31.—Thursday morning at 6:30 found Sedgewick wide awake. Children were being allotted to the cars of the citizens, who were: Mr. H. Dreany, Mr. T. Hotton, Mr. P. Smith, Mr. J. Murray, Mr. H. Scott, Mr. F. Dornan, Mrs. F. Dornan, Mr. E. Clemens, Mr. Wm. Hoffman, Mrs. J. Bearisto, Miss S. Peterson, Mrs. A. Saunders, and Mr. H. Baxter. In less than two hours most of the contestants from Sedgewick had reached their destination, Wainwright, but what had become of the twelfth and thirteenth cars? When Victoria Parsons arrived at the church, where she was to enter the competition of solo singing, it was seen something had happened for the child was bound up here and bleeding there; however, though she had been in a car which had rolled over twice and Victoria had been pulled out of the top, she sang, but her last high note quavered. Victoria came third at any rate.

It was Mrs. Dornan's car which had had the misfortune to be the unlucky thirteenth, the occupants had slight cuts and a general shaking up, but the new car suffered a harder fate. Mrs. Dornan insisted Mr. Dornan, who was driving just behind her, go on with the children and that she would drive the broken car home. This upset Mr. H. Peterson, who is Mrs. Dornan's brother, but he managed to hold the first place in the boys solo singing.

Marion Gammond was second place in the junior singing and room I received first in dramatization. Clifford Anderson made Mrs. Saunder's room have a place in the festival by getting the bronze medal, and the chorus which consisted of: sopranoes, Aspha Eastly, Ada Murray, Patricia and May McKee, Joyce Tenion, Dorothy Hotton, Pauline Hotton, Victoria Parsons, Eunice Hayes, Hazel Olson and Evelyn Dolan. Altoes, Lottie Strachan, Frances Dreany, Katheryn Dolan, Ethel and Florence Olson, Connie Clemens, Eleanor Gammond, Lois Eastly, Lenore Grace, and tenors, Henry Peterson, Franklyn Stewart, Henry Blackman and Clive Macdonald, made 88 points but Edgerton made 90, thus giving Sedgewick second place in the chorus. However, upon totalling up the work Sedgewick won the cup.

Sedgewick made a very good showing at the sports at Lougheed on May 24. In baseball, Sedgewick played Lougheed and with Art Eastly pitching, made two points ahead of the opponents in the finals. Harry Dreany pitched but the weather prevented the game finishing, so the money was split between the two teams. In basketball the senior girls showed Strome and Hardisty who were to be the future Grads.

After the business part of the Sedgewick Women's Institute meeting was hurried through, Mrs. H. Scott gave a paper on "Food Values." Unfortunately in the consideration of a debate being on the programme, Mrs. Scott had to crowd her discourse into a fifteen minute period, but she cleverly revealed the necessity of studying diet more intelligently. A lot of protein and other foods were given. Some well-balanced menus were read and compared with more popular, but unsuitable ones. Mrs. Scott was rewarded with hearty applause and a vote of thanks for her very fine advice.

An interesting debate, "Resolved that Modern Mechanical Household Devices Are Encouraging Laziness in Women" was next presented. The speakers for the affirmative were Mrs. H. G[illegible] and Mrs. Gr[illegible], for the negative [illegible] Arthur Palba and Mrs. Nelson Ward.

The judges chosen were Mr. A. Andr[illegible] [illegible] the school [illegible] Dawson [illegible] time-keeper, [illegible] allowed each speaker and five minutes rebuttal for the affirmative leader. Each speaker spoke very forcibly in support of his own contentions, and many fine points were [illegible]. Modestly conceived and [illegible] was the affirmative [illegible] judges decided the d[illegible] contested, in their [illegible].

An interesting meeting of the Sedgewick branch of the Canadian Legion was held in the club-room on Sunday. E. Leach, president [illegible] attended the annual co[illegible] cial delegate from Sedgewick, delivered an interesting address on the various resolutions passed by the convention. Among other business items it was resolved that the Legion hold their annual sports day July 1, and the various committees will soon be on the spot in an endeavor to make this big event bigger and better than ever.

The fact that tribute is being paid, on the occasion of his birth centenary, to the work of General William Booth by leaders of many denominations recalls a story the General himself was rather fond of telling. A high church dignitary was asked one day what he thought of the Salvation Army. "Well, to tell the truth," said he, "I do not like it, but, to be perfectly candid, I believe God Almighty does."

The name "rayon" for artificial silk is just being adopted in Scotland.

HOLD UP VOTE UNTIL SEARCH CAN BE MADE

Tories State They May be "Hidden in Cellars of House"

Canadian Press

OTTAWA, May 31.—Three portraits, missing from the National Art Gallery, precipitated lengthy debate in the House of Commons Thursday and prevented the passage of the miscellaneous appropriation in the estimates of the department of public works. Opposition members refused to allow the item to pass until Hon. J. C. Elliott, minister of public works, explained the mystery of the missing portraits.

Brig.-Gen. J. A. Clark (Conservative, Vancouver-Burrard), first referred to the question of the missing portraits. They were pictures of Lord Byng of Vimy, former commander of the Canadian Corps; Sir Arthur Currie, the last leader of the Canadian Corps, and Maj.-General Lipsett, another Canadian officer who died fighting in France. These pictures, said General Clark, were once in the National Gallery. But he had searched up and down its corridors and had failed to find trace of them recently. They were probably buried in some cellar in Ottawa, he said.

Mr. Elliott did not know anything about these pictures, he declared. General Clark insisted that the vote should stand, because he would oppose it if the pictures were not discovered. The loss of the portraits was a serious reflection on the government. He wanted to debate the item thoroughly, he said.

Finally, the item was allowed to stand.

Bishop Makes No Reply To Charge

Canadian Press

SASKATOON, May 31.—"This is the first time I have seen the report, so naturally I do not wish to comment," said Bishop George Exton Lloyd, Anglican Bishop of Saskatchewan, when interviewed concerning remarks made about him at Ottawa by M. Luchkovich, M.P., in a recent debate on immigration. Bishop Lloyd intimated he might have a reply in the near future.

The Bishop, who is highly respected by the Barr colonists, was on his way back to Prince Albert after a visit at the Pacific coast, undertaken to restore his failing health.

FRECKLES

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes your freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any drug or department store and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove your freckles.

Plans Ocean Hop

She's another who plans to follow the air route from the United States to Europe. Only Miss D. Berger, Norwegian aviatrix, hopes to fly to her native land. She now is on her way to America, where arrangements will be completed and a companion flier selected.

THIEVES stole 300 square feet of beautiful heavy smooth sod from the green of a golf course and sold it to a cemetery, which didn't know it was stolen. You could muse a while on that what a feeble thing is man in his youth.

He works. Later with golf clubs he spends a few days "putting", with smooth sod under his feet. Then for a long time he spends his days with sod over his head.

The sod is more permanently useful on a graveyard than on a golf course.

THE Greek Government is ordering more fighting ships, two destroyers. Trouble with Turkey is feared. "A vicious circle," the good pacifist would say. "One nation ordered ships, the other orders more ships, and war must come."

THE leader of the three lucky Frenchmen, endeavoring to get started on a hop across the Atlantic, explained that they wanted among other things, to find out "whether Lindbergh's flight was as difficult as it was said to be." The cause of various mishaps they have not found out yet.

After several days delay their flying ship, "Yellow Bird", started to fly over the ocean, but landed in 20 minutes in bad order.

Comparison with the Lindbergh flight would be difficult anyhow for Lindbergh went straight from New York to Paris, not stopping at Old Orchard or anywhere else.

A COMBINATION between the Henry Ford in Germany and the Great German trust, which has hundreds of millions of real money, is interesting news in the development of "Big Business".

Germany needs small, cheap motors. Ford has them. Ford needs great quantities of paint in his production of 8000 cars a day. Germany's dye works have the paint.

Before this announcement came, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, had bought the biggest automobile plant in Germany as European agency of General Motors.

In America the DuPont company, biggest owner of General Motors, is a gigantic manufacturer of paint, especially automobile paint.

Thus two great competing American concerns are allied with German concerns in production.

Big Business really is getting very big, outgrowing national boundaries.

The Ford New Town Sedan is the last word in luxurious appointment. Three large windows provide a light, airy interior. The driver's seat is adjustable. An arm rest lets down in the centre of the rear seat and the floor is lowered to give added leg room

Speed—
and Balance

SPEED to carry you along the wide, clear highway; road balance to give you unlimited confidence on the turns; brakes to slow as though by magic the flying landscape on either side—these are your passports to happy motoring with a Ford car.

Ford engineering has developed a new principle of weight distribution that gives the Ford car a tendency to hug the road when travelling rapidly. The engine, the heaviest part, acts in a sense like the barb to the arrow in flight. Torque tube drive transmits thrust to the front of the car. Unique transverse, semi-elliptic springs and the finest shock absorbers in the world, Houdailles, deliver balanced, smooth riding. Therefore, when speedy travel is required, the Ford car develops a road tenacity heretofore unknown in the light car field.

Grips with Silent Power

The smooth, even braking of the Ford car yields more advantages than maximum safety at all times; since it makes tires last longer and adds immeasurably to riding ease and driving comfort.

LOW UPKEEP—The maintenance of Ford performance is in keeping with Ford traditions; given care and proper attention, no other car on the road may be driven at less cost per mile. And the price of the Ford car spread over a number of years of motoring pleasure and satisfaction, reduces to an absolute economy this mode of comfortable, convenient transportation.

DEMONSTRATION—Ask your Ford dealer to let you drive a Ford car. He will be glad to take you out. Select the steepest hills, the heaviest going—you will be amazed at the power at your command. Head for the busiest streets. Drive alongside other cars. Try the quick getaway, the swift pickup in second, the easy gearshift. Feel the smooth, sure action of the six brake system.

A demonstration will convince you of the outstanding merit of the Ford car. Drive it yourself, there is no better test.

Also request your Ford dealer to show you the hidden, inbuilt quality features of the car which make it so enduring.

TIME PAYMENT—If you prefer to buy out of income, you will find the authorized time payment plan offered by all Ford dealers most attractive.

Drive it Yourself—there is no Better Test

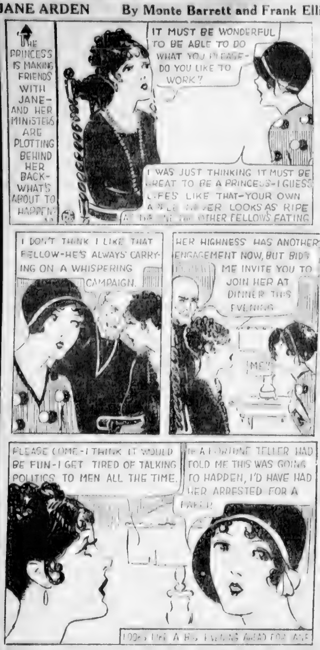
JANE ARDEN

By Monte Barrett and Frank Ellis



THE PRINCESS IS MAKING FRIENDS WITH JANE—AND HER MINISTERS ARE PLOTTING BEHIND HER BACK—WHAT'S ABOUT TO HAPPEN?
IT MUST BE WONDERFUL TO BE ABLE TO DO WHAT YOU PLEASE—DO YOU LIKE TO WORK?
I WAS JUST THINKING IT MUST BE GREAT TO BE A PRINCESS—I GUESS LIFE'S LIKE THAT—YOUR OWN APPLE NEVER LOOKS AS RIPE AS THE ONE THE OTHER FELLOW'S EATING
I DON'T THINK I LIKE THAT FELLOW—HE'S ALWAYS CARRYING ON A WHISPERING CAMPAIGN.
HER HIGHNESS HAS ANOTHER ENGAGEMENT NOW, BUT BIDS ME INVITE YOU TO JOIN HER AT DINNER THIS EVENING
ME?
PLEASE COME—I THINK IT WOULD BE FUN—I GET TIRED OF TALKING POLITICS TO MEN ALL THE TIME.
IF A FORTUNE TELLER HAD TOLD ME THIS WAS GOING TO HAPPEN, I'D HAVE HAD HER ARRESTED FOR A FAKER
LOOKS LIKE A BIG EVENING AHEAD FOR JANE

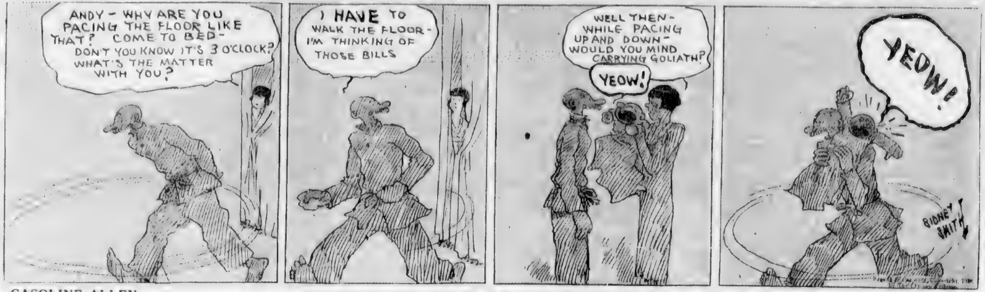
Two Birds With One Stone

By Sidney Smith



ANDY—WHY ARE YOU PACING THE FLOOR LIKE THAT? COME TO BED—DON'T YOU KNOW IT'S 3 O'CLOCK? WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOU?
I HAVE TO WALK THE FLOOR—I'M THINKING OF THOSE BILLS
WELL THEN—WHILE PACING UP AND DOWN—WOULD YOU MIND CARRYING GOLIATH?
YEOW!
YEOW!

IT'S MR. CORPUS. HE SAYS IT'S VERY IMPORTANT. SOMETHING ABOUT A WOMAN YOU BOTH KNOW.
A WOMAN?
FIRST I WANT TO CONFESS, MR. WALLET, THAT I DIDN'T TELL YOU ALL ABOUT MYSELF IN THE FIRST INTERVIEW I HAD WITH YOU. I AM AN ATTORNEY AND I REPRESENT MME. OCTAVE.
YOU DIDN'T FOOL ME MUCH, CORPUS.
SHE DESIRED ME TO WITH-HOLD THOSE FACTS FROM YOU BUT I HAVE DECIDED TO LAY MY CARDS ON THE TABLE. SHE IS THE ONE WHO IS INTERESTED IN SKEEZIX'S EDUCATION BEING HIS MOTHER THAT IS NATURAL.
SO SHE WANTS TO SEND HIM TO PARIS.
BEING INTERNATIONALLY MINDED SHE VALUES HIGHLY THE COMMINGLING OF AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN CULTURES. SHE WOULD GIVE HIM TWO YEARS IN PARIS AT NO EXPENCE TO YOU.
YOU ARE DOUBTLESS AWARE THAT THE COURT AWARDED SKEEZIX TO ME UNCONDITIONALLY. SHE'S OUT OF LUCK.

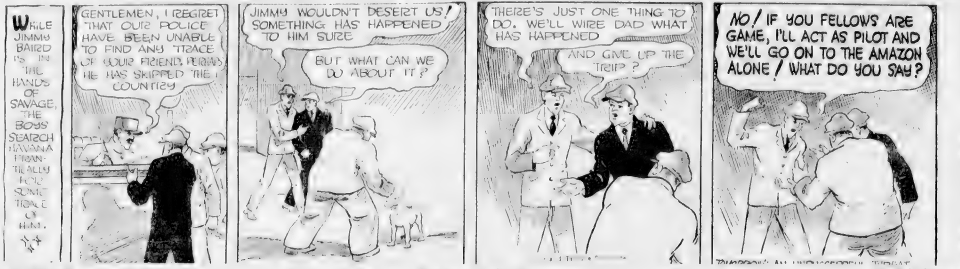
FLYING TO FAME

A Momentous Decision

By Ernest Henderson

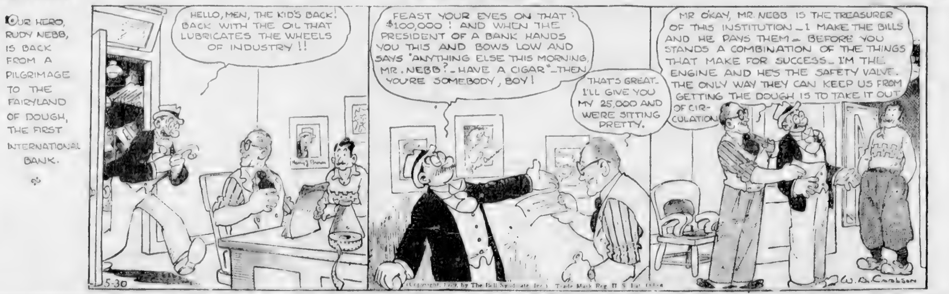


WHILE JIMMY BAIRD IS IN THE HANDS OF SAVAGE, THE BOYS SEARCH HAVANA FRANTICALLY FOR SOME TRACE OF HIM.
GENTLEMEN, I REGRET THAT OUR POLICE HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO FIND ANY TRACE OF YOUR FRIEND. PERHAPS HE HAS SKIPPED THE COUNTRY
JIMMY WOULDN'T DESERT US! SOMETHING HAS HAPPENED TO HIM SURE
BUT WHAT CAN WE DO ABOUT IT?
THERE'S JUST ONE THING TO DO. WE'LL WIRE DAD WHAT HAS HAPPENED
AND GIVE UP THE TRIP?
NO! IF YOU FELLOWS ARE GAME, I'LL ACT AS PILOT AND WE'LL GO ON TO THE AMAZON ALONE! WHAT DO YOU SAY?

THE NEBBS

Bringing in the Sheaves

By Sol Hess



OUR HERO, RUDY NEBB, IS BACK FROM A PILGRIMAGE TO THE FAIRYLAND OF DOUGH, THE FIRST INTERNATIONAL BANK.
HELLO, MEN, THE KID'S BACK! BACK WITH THE OIL THAT LUBRICATES THE WHEELS OF INDUSTRY!!
FEAST YOUR EYES ON THAT $100,000! AND WHEN THE PRESIDENT OF A BANK HANDS YOU THIS AND BOWS LOW AND SAYS "ANYTHING ELSE THIS MORNING, MR. NEBB?—HAVE A CIGAR"—THEN YOU'RE SOMEBODY, BOY!
THAT'S GREAT. I'LL GIVE YOU MY 25,000 AND WE'RE SITTING PRETTY.
MR OKAY, MR. NEBB IS THE TREASURER OF THIS INSTITUTION—I MAKE THE BILLS AND HE PAYS THEM—BEFORE YOU STANDS A COMBINATION OF THE THINGS THAT MAKE FOR SUCCESS—I'M THE ENGINE AND HE'S THE SAFETY VALVE. THE ONLY WAY THEY CAN KEEP US FROM GETTING THE DOUGH IS TO TAKE IT OUT OF CIRCULATION

Smoking forests or smoking chimneys—
WHICH ?

WE CAN'T HAVE BOTH

Over one-half of all Canada's industries depend on wood as a raw material. When the forests are destroyed mills must close down, railway earnings must suffer, trade must stagnate and prosperity must vanish.

Issued by authority of
Honourable Charles Stewart,
Minister of the Interior.

Connaught Cup Football Competition Opens In City Saturday Evening

CANADIAN NATIONALS MEET CALLIES IN FIRST CONTEST

Winners of Local Competition Will Represent Edmonton in Canadian Playdowns—Big Crowd Expected at Diamond Park Tomorrow

WHAT should prove to be one of the greatest struggles of the local soccer season is billed at Diamond Park tomorrow night when the Canadian Nationals meet the Callies in the first game of the Edmonton series in the Dominion of Canada championship playdowns for the Connaught Cup. Kick-off is scheduled for seven o'clock sharp.

Almost every football expert in the city has been pointing to this game as the real treat of the season and one of the biggest crowds of the year is expected to be on hand when the two clubs take the field Saturday evening to decide which will enter the final of the local play-off.

CLOSE MATCH IS LOOKED FOR

While on paper the Railroaders have a big edge on their rivals and should win without much difficulty, the big majority of football followers are looking forward to an exceptionally close match for two very good reasons. First of these is the fact that the Scots are known as hard fighting team, especially in an important game; secondly, it is cup tie, and anything is likely to happen in cup tie competition.

Another reason why the Callies are being given some consideration as possible winners tomorrow is the fact that they are the only team to hang up a victory over the fast-stepping National eleven this year, turning them back by a score of 1-0 in a Vets-Martin contest a couple of weeks ago.

Although the Scots are conceded a chance to win by some, the biggest part of Edmonton fandom favors the Nationals, admittedly one of the greatest football machines to be assembled in this city for the last ten years. The C.N.R. team is [illegible] in every department and unless they are victims of some bad breaks are expected to come through with a victory.

Both managers have reported their players in excellent shape for the match and, no matter who wins, it should be a high-class exhibition.

Billy Griffiths will handle the whistle, and the teams will be selected from the following players:

C. N. R.: Robson, Savage, Geldart, Nisbet, Winter, McKay, Chrimes, Patterson, Graham, Findler, Hall, Minshin, Orchin, Pattison, McMillan.

Callies: Sneddon, Reid, Comar, Ross, Davidson, Langlands, Britt, Featherstone, Hobbs, Gavin, Howarth, Rose, F. Whiteley, Jones, Stewart, D. Whiteley.

SENIOR BALL GAME TONIGHT

Young Liberals and Bulls Will Clash at Boyle Street Diamond

A Senior Amateur Baseball League game of more than usual interest is scheduled at Boyle Street Park tonight with the Bulls and Young Liberals as the principals. Play is billed for 6.45 o'clock sharp.

A win for the Stockyard crew will [illegible] their position [illegible] second place in the [illegible] a loss would mean that they will slip into a three-cornered tie with the South Side and Liberals for last place. They have won and lost a game to date and the [illegible] have yet to break into the win column, having two defeats charged against them. Both clubs have plenty of incentive to come through with a victory and the game should develop into quite a battle.

Freddy Williams will probably do the pitching for the Liberals and George Dame is looked upon as the starter for the Bulls.

Frank Drayton will umpire.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH GIANTS

Baseball critics say nothing fundamentally has been wrong with the play of the New York Giants in the early week of the campaign except that they have had some bad breaks due to lack of smart thinking.

Dickey Likely to Become a Regular With the Yankees

NEW YORK, May 31.—Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, never has been one to become over-enthusiastic about a rookie ball player. But for two years he has been saying nice things about Bill Dickey, a young catcher.

Bill Dickey

The Yankees have had tough luck with catchers. Benny Bengough has had a lame arm for three years and George Pipgras, the hardest pitcher in baseball to catch, has smashed the hands of all the other regular catchers the champions have had.

Dickey went in behind the bat this year when Bengough and Grabowski were hurt and he delivered so well that he may be the regular catcher from now on. He is said to have the best [illegible] arm in baseball and [illegible].

COUNTRY CLUB PLAYERS WIN BOOTH TROPHY

Edmonton Club Team Was Defeated by Margin of 14 Strokes

The Golf and Country Club annexed the Booth trophy from the Edmonton Club yesterday on the Municipal Links when the six-man team of Cuthbert, Shaw, Henley, Brown and Starky defeated a picked team from the defending club by a margin of fourteen strokes in an eighteen-hole medal play competition.

The defeat of the city players yesterday marks the first time that the trophy has left their possession since it was donated in 1927. While the scores were not up to expectations the players turned in good games considering that they battled a strong wind which swept the course throughout the entire period of play.

Shaw Led Field

Harry Shaw, who last year played at the Mayfair Club, turned in the lowest score of the competition. He had a card of 78 for the eighteen holes and was two strokes ahead of Harvey Day, city champion, and Jack Cuthbert. The total aggregate scores of the teams were: Country Club 496 and Edmonton 510.

Jimmy Mountifield, present Western Canada amateur champion, who teamed up with the defenders, was not on to his usual game and he had a card of 85 for the round. Several of the Edmonton players, including Mountifield, lacked practice or the result of the match might have been different.

The scores follow:

Country Club—Shaw 78, Starky 82, Henley 89, Cuthbert 80, Brown 87, Day 80—total 496.

Edmonton—Patzig 85, McFadden 83, Hutton 83, Landing 90, Martin 84, Mountifield 85—total 510.

Calgary and Edmonton Insurance Agents in Annual Golf Turney

The annual good-will golf tournament sponsored by the insurance agents of Edmonton and Calgary was staged in Red Deer on Tuesday last and two very keen competitions were run off. The Harry H. Smith cup was captured by the Calgary agents with the Cownie cup for the low net score going to Pallister of the Calgary contingent.

The Edmonton agents won out in the team match competition for the Jack H. Smith trophy over Blue Goose and Calgary agents.

The net scores in the two competitions follow.

Edmonton: Day 69, Blackett 73, Herring 66, Chapman 81, Matthews 77, Allsopp 67, Sherlock 72, Jeffers 70, Martin 72, Townshend 101, Pratt 75, McPherson 97—total 920.

Calgary: Miller 71, Lowes 69, G. R. H. Anderson 77, V. Anderson 81, Snadden 78, Pallister 64, Buchan 70, Bourne 86, Sweet 73, Creighton 90, Eaton 90, Hight 67—total 916.

Jack Smith Cup

Blue Goose, Calgary: Pallister 64, Sweet 73, Snadden 78, V. Anderson 81, Sherlock 72, Pratt 75—total 443.

Calgary agents: Hight 67, Lowes 69, Buchan 70, Miller 71, Eaton 90, G. R. H. Anderson 77—total 444.

Edmonton: Day 69, Allsopp 69, Jeffers 70, Martin 72, Blackett 73, Herring 66—total 419.

McManus Seems to be Making Up for His Weak Hitting

DETROIT, Mich., May 31.—It seems strange to look at the American League batting averages and see that Marty McManus, of Detroit, is up there among the leaders with an average close to .390.

McManus

The Tigers have been doing the most powerful hitting in the junior big league as a team since the season opened and the most powerful batter of the lot to date has been McManus.

Usually a hitter whose average borders just under .300, McManus seems off to his greatest season. The cause no one knows, but many experts believe that Bucky Harris, noted as one of the best handlers of baseball players, has had much to do with McManus' improved batting.

Detroit fans are praying that it will last.

Three Major Meets on Golfing Program

NEW YORK, May 31.—Important golf tournaments yet to be played this season include the U. S. open at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N.J., June 27. U.S. amateur at Pebble Beach, Calif., September 2, and the U.S. women's tourney at Oakland Hills, Mich., September 30.

GERMAN TEAM DEFEATED BY CENTRALS 2-0

Eidelweiss Team Lost Ryan Cup Game Last Night

Continuing their winning streak which has extended to six consecutive victories, the Central Rovers triumphed over the Eidelweiss club in a hard-fought Ryan Cup soccer match at Diamond Park last night by a score of 2-0.

The game was well played throughout with the German team giving their more-experienced opponents a real argument for the verdict.

The winners scored a goal in each half of the contest to win out. After twenty minutes of play in the opening session the Rovers were awarded a corner and this started the Eidelweiss on the road to defeat. Logan, taking the kick, planted it fairly in the goalmouth and the ball dropped over the line for the first goal when the defending goalie fumbled after handling. The second and final counter came about ten minutes from full time, Bill Robertson scoring when he beat the Eidelweiss custodian after securing possession on McLean's corner kick.

Art Young was the referee in charge.

GREAT ARRAY TALENT FOR SWIM GALA

Junior Championships To Be decided This Evening

Tonight at eight o'clock the lid will be pried off the racing season for the local swimming clubs when they will be seen in action in an open junior gala, at the West End Swimming Pool.

An imposing array of swimming talent has been lined up for the various events which will decide the junior city championships. Although it is only juniors who are competing the spectators are assured of a real evening's entertainment as the youngsters are the speed merchants of the province and western Canada. At last year's provincial meet the boys and girls of sixteen and under captured every senior championship event that was competed, and at Banff in the Rocky Mountain Park championships the juniors were the stars of the meet. With many of last year's stars still under the junior age and a large number of new prospects competing in the different races the meet is expected to be a great success.

Exhibitions by some of the seniors will include racing and fancy diving. Another feature exhibition will be a competition between the team that won the relay race at Banff and a team picked by Bert Crockett from the members of the West End Club. The dumb diving display which is ever popular with the crowd will also have its place on the program and promises to be as good as ever.

The "Bad News" Twins

Bad News — That is what these Waner boys mean to National League pitchers. Of course, it isn't necessary to say that Paul Waner, left, and Lloyd Waner, who are known as "Big Pizen" and "Lil Pizen," respectively, are two of the most feared batsmen in the major leagues. Their bats are expected to boom steadily this season.

Caddy Loses Life When Struck Over Eye With Golf Ball

NEW YORK, May 31.—The mashie shot which Salem Smith hoped would win him the fourth hole over three friends at the Forest Park Golf course yesterday, cost a caddy's life. Twelve-year-old Adolph Sodowski, who lives at Ozone Park, Queens, was standing on the green watching the men play when Smith's descended ball struck him over the left eye, fatally fracturing his skull.

McGraw Rates Good Average in His Trade

MR. M'GRAW, I SUPPOSE YOU'VE REGRETTED MANY OF YOUR DEALS THAT TOOK PLAYERS LIKE ROGERS HORNSBY AND HACK WILSON FROM YOU?

M'GRAW
I NEVER REGRETTED A TRADE IN MY LIFE!! I MADE TRADES TO REMEDY URGENT CONDITIONS AND THEY ALL SERVED MY PURPOSE AT THE TIME!!

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

It has always been a debatable question among baseball people, expert and otherwise, whether John J. McGraw during a period of years, made more good trades than bad ones.

Some of the New York manager's recent swaps, particularly the one that cost him Burleigh Grimes, have caused many of the experts to give him the name of a bad trader in baseball flesh.

McGraw has always claimed that he never regretted a trade he ever made and as he has been the most successful manager in baseball history over a period of years, the scribes will have to let him get away with that statement.

I will say one thing for McGraw and that is he is not stubborn and has an open mind.

If he sees he has made a mistake in letting a ball player get away he will wait for years till he sees an opportunity of getting him back.

Murray Murdoch of New York Rangers Visiting Edmonton

Murray Murdoch, one of the younger members of the New York Rangers, who teams up with Paul Thompson and "Butch" Keeling on the relief forward line of Lester Patrick's great team, is a visitor to the city.

Murray arrived here last Sunday and expects to be in Edmonton for the next two or three weeks. He is visiting relatives here and meeting a number of old friends.

Winner's Average Speed for the Distance was 97.585 Miles an Hour—Only 12 of 33 Drivers Who Started Survived the Terrific Grind

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
A. P. Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 — Death and destruction were strewn in the wreckage of that scorching torch called the 500-mile Automobile Sweep-stakes at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway yesterday.

With a record-smashing crowd of 160,000 viewing the spectacle, Ray Keech, daring 28-year-old driver, of Philadelphia, bounced his tiny eight-cylinder racing car past the finish tape, a winner in 5:07:25:42. Louis Meyer of Los Angeles, winner of the 1928 race, finished second, nearly six minutes behind Keech, with Jimmy Gleason, another Philadelphia driver, pulling up in third place.

ONLY TWELVE DRIVERS FINISHED

Twelve of the 33 drivers who started survived the terrible test of speed. Keech averaged 97.585 miles an hour, a performance that did not even threaten speed records for the race.

The race resulted in the death of Wm. Spence, 24-year-old driver of Los Angeles, and the miraculous escape of five other drivers.

Keech, as a result of his victory, was enriched to the extent of about $40,000.

BEARCATS COP INTERMEDIATE BALL FIXTURE

George Anderson's C. N. R. Club Nosed Out by 12-10 Score

The hard-hitting Alberta Avenue Bearcats slugged their way to another victory in the Intermediate Baseball League at Boyle Street park last night when they nosed out George Anderson's C.N.R. club by a margin of two runs, the score being 12-10 when Umpire Frank Drayton called a halt at the end of the eighth inning on account of darkness.

Featured throughout by heavy hitting on the part of both teams, the game became exceptionally interesting in the fifth inning when the Canadian Nationals scored six runs to knot the count at 7-7. The Bearcats staged counter-rallies in the sixth and eighth, however, to pull away and had enough to win by two runs when the festivities were halted by darkness.

Five pitchers graced the rubber during the hectic battle, the winners using three and the losers a couple. McMillan, Deutsch, and Walker went to the mound in turn for the Bearcats, while Moebes and Mitzen divided the hurling duties for the C. N.

Miller and Whitehill are Two Hurlers Who Worry "Goose" Goslin

CHICAGO, May 31.—There are two pitchers in the American League whose departure for other places would be particularly welcome to "Goose" Goslin, Washington outfielder who led the league in batting last season. They are Walter Miller, with Cleveland, and Earl Whitehill, with Detroit, both left-handers.

"All pitchers are hard to hit, understand, but those two fellows are particularly hard for me," he says. "I got a 4-0-0 against Miller at Cleveland on the first western road trip and Whitehill did the same to me at Detroit. And my past average against these two guys isn't anything to brag about. They are just poison to me."

HEINECKE LOST TO STANFORD

Stanford's 1929 football team may be without the services of Walt Heinecke, star center, who is reported to be taking treatments for heart trouble.

WON'T SELL SLADE NOW

San Francisco, despite the fact that Pittsburgh offered a huge sum for immediate delivery of Gordon Slade, shortstop, will keep him the entire season because it figures he might help win another pennant.

SWISS SOCCER CLUB FORMED

Will Compete in Second Division League of E.D.F.A.

The second division league of the Edmonton and District Football Association has taken on a real international aspect. Following close on the entries from the Eidelweiss, a German club now competing in the Ryan Cup competition, and the Danish club, Secretary-treasurer Bob Stevenson announced last night that an application for membership in the second division had been received and accepted from a Swiss organization.

With the entry of the Swiss team, the total number of clubs competing for the Bulletin trophy, emblematic of the league championship, was increased to seven. The other teams are: Central Rovers, Post Office, Gainers, Journal, Eidelweiss, Danish.

It is expected that the league schedule will be drawn up at the next meeting of council and that it will get underway on June 28.

Two Spectators and Driver Killed When Racing Car Upsets

NEW YORK, May 31.—A skidding racing car yesterday killed two spectators and injured three other persons, including its driver, at the Metropolitan Heights' fair grounds track, Maspeth, Long Island.

The dead were: Damascus McKenna, 48, of Flushing, L. I., and an unidentified boy about 15-year-old. The driver, Bernie Katz, 25, of Brooklyn, suffered a fractured skull.

The automobile crashed through a fence and rolled over among the witnesses.

U. S. TENNIS PLAYERS LEAD

Davis Cup Team from Cuba Drop Opening Two Singles Games

DETROIT, Mich., May 31.—Led by Johnny Hennessey, of Indianapolis and Johnny Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., the United States virtually assured itself of victory in the American zone finals of the Davis cup tennis competition, by winning the opening two singles matches from Cuba here yesterday.

Hennessey defeated Captain Ricardo Morales 6-0, 6-3, 6-4. Van Ryn trounced Gustave Vollmer, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

The victories yesterday leaves the United States to win but one of the three remaining matches.

WHEAT MAKES SLIGHT GAIN

Light Offerings Features of Day on Winnipeg Exchange

By Jas. Richardson & Sons, Ltd.

WINNIPEG, May 31—Light offerings and higher prices featured today's wheat market, which held firm. Closing quotations were 2⅛c to 1⅜c higher for the day.

Exporters entered the pit today and bought a fair amount of wheat.

Cash wheat was in good demand at prices generally unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Demand was fair for oats an drye, both moving higher in sympathy with wheat.

Winnipeg Grain Letter

By James Richardson & Sons, Ltd.

WINNIPEG, May 31—Wheat closed 2⅛ to 1⅜ higher after an erratic market, which was with substantial buying by houses with American connections. Offerings were fairly liberal, but were well absorbed. Liverpool cables were not as low as due because of small Argentine and Australian shipments.

Argentine shipments show a decrease of three million bushels from last week, while Australian shipments were also lower than anticipated. Seaboard confirmed two million bushels taken for export.

Private advances from the American southwest stated that crops were deteriorating in Texas, Oklahoma and parts of Kansas, as the result of recent heavy rains. There were further rains in parts of Kansas yesterday, with the forecast for probable showers tonight and Saturday.

France reports weather hot with some rain needed. The Indian crop is estimated at 316 million bushels against 20 million last year. There were further rains yesterday in Manitoba and parts of Saskatchewan. The forecast is for clearing weather and higher temperatures.

The class of buying today suggested important support, but the immediate trend of the market is likely to depend on private crop estimates which are expected tomorrow or Monday.

EDMONTON STOCKYARDS, May 31—Receipts: Cattle, 107; calves, 67.

There were really insufficient receipts of cattle to make a market. What few head were sold indicate fully steady and unchanged prices with yesterday's close. The calf market is inclined to be draggy, and all classes of calves are fully $1 lower in price as compared to yesterday.

Hog receipts, 194.

Sheep receipts, nil. There is no change in the prices.

Grain Gossip

By James Richardson & Sons Ltd.

Chicago Tribune—Spurned by buyers and falling down under continued depression coupled with weakness at Liverpool, Winnipeg wheat declined nearly five cents with the lowest price levels in half a dozen years. Frenzied sellers crowded the pit as the market fell away 2¾ cents at the opening and descending values soon ran into sweeping stop loss orders. Rallies of close to 2 cents before the close gave a false promise of strength, but they were lost alomts entirely in later drops.

Herald Examiner—In addition to the general bearishness toward all grains and the sharp break in wheat prices which will naturally find a sympathetic action in corn, news of the domestic corn situation available yesterday was only in regard to weather conditions over the belt. They were bearish, in as much as the ideal warm weather continued and while there were rains, they were mostly in the form of local showers.

Journal of Commerce—It is believed that speculative short interest has been extensively covered and that something to ensourage buying will be absolutely necessary to prevent prices from declining further. What profits have been made in the market this season have been made on the short side.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 31.—Wheat values dropped early today to new low record prices, owing to sharp setbacks in prices at Winnipeg yesterday while the United States markets were closed. In a general rush of selling, corn oats and rye today also went under previous bottom levels. Breaks in the Winnipeg wheat market were attributed here to predictions that German import duties would be raised and to further rains beneficial to Canadian crops. Opening 1¾ cent to 3⅛ cent off, Chicago wheat later held near to the initial range. Corn started 1 to 2¼ cents lower and afterward fluctuated irregularly.

A RICH OIL AREA

Home Oil now has two big high test gasoline producing wells. A Third is in the lime. A fourth is drilling deep. A fifth is to be drilled this year. Outlook for all companies drilling or about to drill in the rich Home Oil area of Turner Valley has vastly improved through Home's second great achievement.

We believe that Home, Southwest, Mayland, Eastcrest, Advance, Baltac, A. P. Con., Calmont, Associated, Lowery, Hargal, Mercury, Sterling Pacific and Sunlight Oils are all intrinsically worth higher prices as a result of the duplication of Home No. 1's success in Home No. 2.

Latest Oil Field Flashes

CALGARY, Alta., May 31.—McLeod—At McLeod No. 3 about 20 feet of new hole has been making the well now 156 feet in the lime. Since the lost diamond drill rods were passed some iron has remained in the hole and this has been carried along ahead of the drill. During bailing operations large quantities of iron have bee., taken out of the well. It is anticipated that once the remainder of the iron has been removed greater progress will be made.

A. P. Con.—The Rotary rig for the drilling of A.P. Con. No. 1 is to be drilled is being hauled on to the lease and the cellar for A.P. Con. No. 2 is being dug. Preparations are being made for the well which is to be drilled by Vanalta Oils on A.P. Con. acreage at Coutts and the rig is being moved on to the location. Drilling is expected to start within the next 15 days.

Spooner—At Spooner No. 2 tools were pulled Thursday afternoon in order that a new bit might be set, but it is expected that drilling will be resumed this morning. TThe hole is 207 feet in the lime. It was stated by an official of the company that the gas flow is holding steady and that considerable naphtha was being recovered.

Calmont—Calmont No. 2 is drilling past the lost bit at Calmont No. 1 at the bottom of the well, the work proceeding steadily. A large quantity of light oil was bailed from the well. Preparations are almost completed for No. 2 on the Dallas lease to be spudded in.

Sterling Pacific—The rig for Sterling Pacific No. 1, which is to be drilled by Imperial Oil in the extreme southern Turner Valley, is being built and it is expected that drilling will be started shortly. Two other wells which will start soon in that part of the field are Merland and Lowery Petroleum.

Mercury—Mercury No. 2 is making preparations for commencing to drill as are the director and Sunshine wells.

Northwest Assoc.—Reports from Northwest Associated No. 1 state that the lime had been reached, but were not confirmed last night by officials of the company. This well recently passed through the Dalhousie sand and last reports were that it was making good progress at a depth of about 5100 feet.

Highwood—A start was made yesterday afternoon to drill out the cement at Highwood No. 1. This well, which is a prospect hole west of Turner Valley in the Highwood Valley, is being drilled by Imperial Oil and reached the lime recently at a depth of 4226 feet.

Prices suffered further reverses on the Calgary Stock Exchanges yesterday. There were very few stocks which did not close lower than the opening prices.

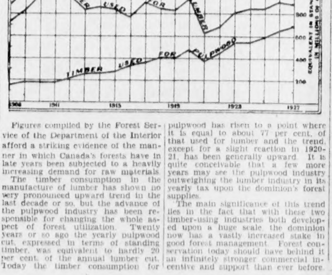
Oil Gossip

By James Richardson & Sons

CALGARY, May 31.—A large number of selling orders which increased the volume prices on the Calgary exchange on Thursday again were reduced. The market appeared weak, caused to some extent by the sharp decline in the grain market especially, and many of the oil traders are grain buyers and it is a peculiar situation as the news from the Valley has never been more encouraging and with the many producers paying their way and some paying dividends while others are in the lime and close to production. Also with many just starting to spud in and many otherse to start this summer, it appears to be a case of conditions of outside markets and the decrease in the buying from eastern and western centers.

Only two stocks showed any strength, Moose Mountain gaining steady, while Advance new and old were offered at 5.50 and 18.00 with absolutely no sales. All others were weak and closed considerably lower than the previous date.

Timber Consumption For Lumber And Pulpwood Compared



Figures compiled by the Forest Service of the Department of the Interior afford a striking evidence of the manner in which Canada's forests have in late years been subjected to a heavily increasing demand for raw materials.

The timber consumption in the manufacture of lumber has shown no very pronounced upward trend in the last decade or so, but the advance of the pulpwood industry has been responsible for changing the whole aspect of forest utilization. Twenty years or so ago the yearly pulpwood cut, expressed in terms of standing timber, was equivalent to hardly 20 per cent. of the annual lumber cut. Today the timber consumption for pulpwood has risen to a point where it is equal to about 77 per cent. of that used for lumber and the trend, except for a slight reaction in 1920-21, has been generally upward. It is quite conceivable that a few more years may see the pulpwood industry outweighing the lumber industry in its yearly tax upon the dominion's forest supplies.

The main significance of this trend lies in the fact that with these two timber-using industries both developed upon a huge scale the dominion now has a vastly increased stake in good forest management. Forest conservation today should have behind it an infinitely stronger commercial incentive and support than ever before.

HUGE LOSSES ARE FELT ON WALL STREET

Rumors Are Followed by Drastic Decline in Quotations

NEW YORK, May 31—Persistent but unconfirmed reports that a few of Wall Street's large operators had taken terrific losses in the recent decline and that at least one of them had been "taken over" in a pool specialty, brought about a drastic decline in prices in the early part of today's market. Scores of issues were hammered down 2 to nearly 9 points.

The reaction finally was checked around mid-day by a fresh outburst of bullish enthusiasm in the rails and public utilities. Several of these were market up to new high records by gains running as high as 7 points.

Rails were active under the leadership of Atchison, which ran up 8½ points to a new high at 223¾. New Haven crossed 100 and Canadian Pacific ran up more than 6 points.

Call money renewed at 6 per cent.

American Waterworks soared 6 points to a new high at 107 and assumed the leadership of the utility group. Western Union climbed 8 points, Abitibi Power 6½ and American Power and Light, Commonwealth Power and North American advanced 3 to 4½ points.

In the early break, Commercial Solvents fell 5½ points, Case Threshing 8, Wright Aero 8¾, General Electric 6¼ and International Harvester and others 4 points or more.

The closing was irregular with sales approximating 3,400,000 shares.

Montreal Noon Letter

By James Richardson & Sons

MONTREAL, May 31.—Brazilian came second in volume in yesterday's list here, with a turnover of 9433 shares, and gave a generally firm display, selling up to 52½, and closing at 52XD for a net gain of one point.

Gross earnings show an increase of 11.63 per cent. while net was higher by 12.76 last year.

The total foreign trade of approximately 188,000,000 sterling was the greatest in the last five year. Although the quantity of coffee exported in 1928 was somewhat less than in the previous year, there was an increase in value of 11 per cent.

Dominion Bridge turned more active in yesterday's market, furnishing a turnover of 1848 shares, selling up to 97 and closing at 96 for a gain of 1¼. The stock failed to yield much ground during the recent market weakness, and enjoys an enthusiastic market following, largely because few industrials enjoy so bright a prospect that is so clearly in evidence. Construction awards made in Canada during the month of May showed an increase of nearly 50 per cent over the preceding month.

At special meeting of the board of directors of the Lake Superior Corpn., held here yesterday, four new members were added to the directorate, these being Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, Sir William E. Stavert, F. E. Merredith, K.C., and Frank Common, K.C. It was also announced that Frank B. Common had been elected president. Fairly heavy buying again made its appearance for McColl Frontenac shares on the Curb market here, that issue on a turn over of 443 shares selling up to 37¼ and closing at 37, for a gain of 2. It is understood that steps have already ben taken looking toward the listing of this stock on the stock exchange.

Bliss Letter

By James Richardson & Sons

NEW YORK, May 31.—Believe that the industrial stocks, or at least those which may be logically classed as inherently sound as to earnings, etc., are reaching a much more solid foundation than might be indicated on the surface. The market on Wednesday suffered two selling shocks which, however, failed to produce general unsettlement. It is entirely probable, we believe, that for the present at least, the industrial section was passed a stage where liquidation in a few issues will set off a long string of selling orders and cause general recession. Stocks like International Harvester, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck. In our opinion are working into a position where they may be expected to have a measurable upward reaction.

The confusion in the industrial group Wednesday may have tended to obscure the action of the rails, where Monday's buying demand was continued on a moderate scale. It is likely we think that the new low on Chrysler was caused by special liquidation and we feel that at these levels the stock is a purchase.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, May 31.—Foreign exchange irregular. Demand rates in cents. Great Britain 4.84⅝; France 3.90⅛; Italy 5.23; Germany 23.77. Canadian dollars 23-32 of one per cent discount.

Good Oil Stocks Sell At Attractive Prices

Get our Advice on Oil Stocks

The recent sudden recession in oil stock prices has been due chiefly to the lack of any stimulating news from Alberta oil fields, coupled with a general profit-taking reaction.

The result of the break has been the depression of prices all along the line and in some cases the recession has carried the prices of stocks below their nominal value.

The announcement of any spectacular news from the field will stimulate another wave of buying that will undoubtedly carry the sounder oil stocks to materially higher levels.

There are several oil issues selling at prices which we are convinced afford the buyer an excellent opportunity for a profitable speculation.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE CAPITOL

Riding along smoothly on the ocean of success, Al Jolson's great talking picture, "The Singing Fool" is breaking all past attendance records at the Capitol theatre where it will be shown for the last times today and Saturday. It is worth the price of admission alone to hear Jolson sing "Sonny Boy," theme song of the picture.

"The Singing Fool" provides him with a story of universal appeal. First seen as a waiter in a New York cafe, in love with a beautiful entertainer, he later becomes owner of a pretentious night club and husband of the same faithless lady, who casts him into the depths of despair by deserting him and their little boy, for a stranger.

For the sake of the child he goes on, urged and aided by the pretty cigarette girl he had known in his less successful days. Then comes a call from his divorced wife—news that Sonny Boy is dangerously ill.

But no more of the thrilling story need be told. Suffice it to say that Joslon has never been quite so Jolsonian, never quite so tremendously appealing. The support is especially adequate, the photography is beautiful and Lloyd Bacon has done a masterly piece of directing.

You owe it to yourself to see Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool."

AT PANTAGES

The Red Sword, the feature picture showing at Pantages for the balance of the week is one that will be remembered for a long time by all who see it. It is a story of exceptional nature; is directed with a touch of genius and has a cost of outstanding merit.

The theme is dramatic in the extreme and is highly colored by having as a background dashing Cossacks and a Russian revolt. From the highest rung of the social ladder to the lowest it runs throughout preserving the dramatic and thrilling. The main theme is supplemented by subsidiary plots and the whole is welded into a romance that cannot fail to impress.

Marion Nixon, Carmel Myers and William Collier are among the galaxy of stars which shine brightly in this picture.

Al Preston and his orchestra of symphonic jazzists scored mightily with a judiciously selected and admirably played half hour of classical and popular numbers. Mr. Preston directed with accustomed skill and led his players through a most enjoyable program.

Pupils of the Dorothy Kinney School of Dancing proved their skill by displaying some aesthetic steps to the delectation of the audience.

A news reel and a comedy, "Parlor Pests" scored heavily. Altogether a splendid entertainment.

"The Singing Fool" Breaks Record

Al Jolson, the singing walter, and little David Lee as Sonny Boy, in one of the most pathetic scenes ever seen in a motion picture. "The Singing Fool" has been held over for the rest of this week.

AT THE MONARCH

Nancy Carroll, popular Paramount screen actress recently landed one of the most coveted parts of the present cinematic season. She essays the role of Rosemary in Anne Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose" set to the screen and now showing at the Monarch theatre.

Miss Carroll was personally chosen for the part by Miss Nichols. She fills the requirements to the letter inasmuch as she is an Irish lass, with blue eyes and red hair.

Born of Irish parents on Tenth avenue in New York City, Miss Carroll has been in theatricals most of her life following her graduation from school. She appeared in several New York musicals, and was given the leading parts in several productions staged at Los Angeles. Her appearance there marked the beginning of several screen offers for small parts which she accepted.

AT THE PRINCESS

Alice White and Jack Mulhall are co-featured in First National's spicy, high-stepping comedy-drama, "Naughty Baby," which is presented at the Princess theatre today.

This is the initial film in which they have appeared together. Miss White had just been made a First National star, completing her first vehicle, "Show Girl," and Mulhall had just finished "Waterfront" with Dorothy Mackaill, when "Naughty Baby" was launched. A notable supporting cast figures in the picture.

AT THE EMPRESS

Unwept, unheralded and unsung have been the gallant services of the fire departments in our large cities until the moving pictures took up the task of giving honor where honor is due. "Hook and Ladder No. 9," the stirring production which opened last night at the Empress theatre, marks a successful attempt to portray accurately the thrilling life of the fire-fighter.

The story of this production is based upon the romantic love of two young firemen, life-long friends, for the same girl, and many of the most dramatic situations seen on the screen arise from this triangle. How a man can love a woman so much that he hates his best friend because she prefers him, and how he makes the supreme sacrifice that she might be saved, are the highlights of this picture of romance, love and adventure.

COMING TO THE EMPIRE

Lilian Albertson's production of the Romberg operetta, "The Desert Song," will be seen at the Empire all week, commencing June 3 with the original cast.

The plot is not as thin as are the usual plots in musical plays. The idea is of a young French officer who through accident becomes the leader of a band of Riffs in Morocco and undertakes to be just to both his Moorish friends and to his French countrymen. He apparently fails, through his love for a French girl, is disgraced among both French and natives, but finally comes to his own, girl included.

Perry Askam and Elvira Tanzi are still heading the original company. Charley Boyle is winning new laurels as Benny, and David Reese in the tenor role of Sid El Kar, is proving a sheer delight. Askam continues to win many encores for his "One Alone" and "The Desert Song." The balance of the cast includes Nenette Vallon, Gary Breckner, John Merkyl, Charles Villar, Myrtis Crinley, Dorothy McCormick, John Wagner and others.

Amazing Millinery Reductions Including a Wonderful Collection of

MODEL HATS Half Price

WE'RE literally breathless. For it's only once in a "blue moon" that we can offer such a millinery opportunity. And just a time, too, when women are selecting hats for travelling, for summer, business and shopping, and for sports.

The French Room is all a-flutter. Every exclusive model—no matter what the silken label—has donned an amazing new ticketing. Hats from the most distinguished millinery salons of Eastern Canada and the United States—hats that were first displayed a few short weeks ago.

The collection numbers 250, and the variety of fabrics and styles is almost as numerous as the hats themselves. There are Buntls, and Bankoks, and Bakous. There are perle viscas and sisols and Paris memes. Felts, of course, figure largely in the collection and smart mohairs, in shapes large or small in colors dark or bright are also present. Several hat and scarf ensembles are included in the clearaway. We might talk for hours on the vagaries of the collection and many of its beauties would remain untold. You must see for yourself tomorrow.

British Empire Shopping Week

CANADA

IT will interest the buying public to learn that about 85% of all goods sold by The T. EATON CO. Limited are made within the British Empire. By far the larger volume is made in Canada and Great Britain, though it is true that the entire Empire contributes to the total from widely scattered parts. The Canadian factories of The T. EATON CO. Limited employ over 5,000 people at St. John, Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal. In these factories according to Eatonia standards of quality, clothing for men, suits, shirts, pyjamas, raincoats, slickers, sweaters, ties, overalls, work-shirts, gloves; women's, misses' and children's wear, dresses, coats, furs, corsets, whitewear; leather goods, buttons, toilet articles, leather bags, jewelry, optical goods; stoves, ranges, heaters.

The T. EATON CO. Limited is a purchaser of large supplies from Canadian manufacturers, as well as an importer from all parts of the Empire of goods required for meeting the demands of their customers all over Canada. From the Imperial viewpoint, goods made in Montreal or Toronto, Hamilton or St. John, are Empire products in a very real sense. The extension of the Eaton organization enlarges the demand for products and enables the buyers to take better advantage of the mass production and rational economy which are features of modern industrial life and production.
